

PROPERTY OF THE
LIBRARY OF THE
NOV 43 1938
WOMAN'S COLLEGE
UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

THE WOMAN'S COLLEGE OF THE UNIVERSITY OF
NORTH CAROLINA

THE ALUMNAE NEWS

NOVEMBER 1938

THE ALUMNAE NEWS

PUBLISHED FOUR TIMES A YEAR: JULY, NOVEMBER, FEBRUARY AND APRIL, BY THE ALUMNAE AND FORMER STUDENTS ASSOCIATION OF THE WOMAN'S COLLEGE OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, GREENSBORO

MEMBER OF AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

CLARA BOOTH BYRD, Editor

OFFICERS AND BOARD MEMBERS

President, VAUGHN WHITE HOLOMAN (MRS. HENRY D.)
Vice President, ANNIE L. STAFFORD GREENFIELD (MRS. KENNETH)
Honorary President, LAURA H. COIT
General Secretary, CLARA B. BYRD

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Lillie Boney Williams (Mrs. R. Murphy), Marion Stevens Hood (Mrs. Gurney P.), Carrie Tabor Stevens (Mrs. C. E.), Lillian Massey, Caroline Goforth Hogue (Mrs. Richard), Julia Montgomery Street (Mrs. C. A.), Dr. Mary Poteat, Marjorie Mendenhall, Martha Blakeney Hodges (Mrs. Luther), Eoline Everett May (Mrs. Gordon Hill).

Vol. XXVII

NOVEMBER, 1938

No. 2

CONTENTS

	PAGE
A NOTE ON FOUNDER'S DAY	1
BEAUTY IN WOMEN Vaughn White Holoman	2
SHOP TALK	3
PRESENTING NEW MEMBERS OF THE FACULTY	4
THE FAMILY TREE	5
THE STUDENT LEADERS' CONFERENCE Maxine Garner '39	8
AFFAIRS OF THE LOCAL CLUBS AND ASSOCIATIONS	10
NEWS FROM THE ALUMNAE	12
PLACES AND FACES— FAMILIAR AND NEW	15
NECROLOGY	26
MARRIED	27
MESSAGES ON FOUNDER'S DAY	31
COLLEGE LECTURE CALENDAR	32
ALUMNAE HOUSE SCHEDULE OF EXTRA EVENTS	32
SPENCER DORMITORY REMODELED	32

Patronize Our Advertisers

	Page
Montaldo's—Ladies' Wear	21
Sancton & Dickerson— Jewelers and Optometrists	22
Betty Lou Shop	22
E. A. Woodell—Printing	22
Phil R. Carlton, Inc.— Real Estate, Insurance, etc.	22
The Grill—Eats	22
Dragon Shops—Ladies' Wear	22
Lady Fair Shop	23
Seburn's, Inc.—Jewelers	23
Columbia Laundry	23
Union Bus Station	24
King Cotton Hotel	24
The Book Shop	24
Oscar Barnett & Co.—Investments	24
Odell Hardware Company	25
Ellis, Stone & Co.—Ladies' Wear	25
Franklin Studio—Photography	25
Greensboro Nehi Bottling Co.— Royal Crown Cola	26
Fields—Ladies' Wear	27
Pollock's—Shoes	28
Mangel's—Ladies' Wear	28
Schiffman's—Jewelers	29
O. Henry Hotel	29
Blue Bird Taxi	29
Jos. J. Stone & Co.—Printing	29
Brooks-Wilson Co.—Ladies' Apparel	30
Kay Jewelry Company	30
Vick Chemical Company	30
Dick's Laundry	30
Belk's Department Store	33
Coca-Cola Bottling Co.	33
Brownhill's—Ladies' Wear	Back Cover
Mock, Judson, Voehringer— Hosiery	Back Cover

A Note on Founder's Day

October's bright blue weather seems almost as much a part of Founder's Day as the date on the calendar itself, and the forty-sixth birthday—Wednesday, October 5, dawned once more true to tradition. For two or three years, the commemoration has been observed by a special chapel program in Aycock auditorium, minus the day's release from classes, as was formerly true. In addition, numerous meetings were held according to custom by alumnae clubs and associations within this and other states.

This year the exercises were timed to begin at twelve o'clock. They lasted fifty minutes. Dean Walter Clinton Jackson was in general charge. He also spoke the opening words and read the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians, Dr. McIver's favorite chapter in the Bible. The audience joined in singing the Founder's favorite hymn, "How Firm a Foundation." Clara B. Byrd, Alumnae Secretary, read in brief in memoriam the names of the alumnae who had died since last October fifth. The College Choir, directed by George M. Thompson of the School of Music, rendered Bach's Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring.

Mrs. Henry D. Holoman (Vaughn White), president of the Alumnae Association, was the first speaker. Her talk is published in full elsewhere in these pages.

Mrs. Cone Speaks

President Frank P. Graham, presented by Dr. Jackson, introduced Mrs. Julius W. Cone (Laura Weill), member of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina, and chairman of the Woman's College Building Committee. In her talk, Mrs. Cone followed the thread of history from the early and small beginnings of the College to its present position of size and influence. The founders were possessed by the spirit of the pioneer, she told us; democracy was the basic principle upon which they built. But she felt that this pioneer spirit was equally in evidence during the dark days of the depression when the Board of Trustees ventured out into the uncertainties of consolidation and made the Woman's College a unit of the University of North Carolina; and the ideals of democracy she believed to be as potentially real on this campus today as then.

It was an inspiring story—the record that had been written since the opening morning in 1892, when one hundred and seventy-six young women, together with that small but devoted first faculty, gathered upon a bare hill, topped with three buildings. It was a far cry from that hour to this, when more than two thousand young women, together with a faculty proportionate in number, were assembled on a campus having today more than thirty-five buildings. And the work had not been finished.

"Through the years," Mrs. Cone concluded, "this college has proved that it was worthwhile to educate the women of North Carolina." Moreover, the speaker voiced the faith that in the days ahead the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina would again prove that it was worthwhile to build here in the South a college of liberal arts, where young women would find, at moderate cost, in an atmosphere of simple but gracious living, an educational opportunity of highest quality.

The exercises were closed with the singing of the College Song.

McIVER BUILDING

Beauty in Women

By VAUGHN WHITE HOLOMAN

President of the Woman's College Alumnae Association

Speaking in Aycock Auditorium on Wednesday morning,
October 5, as part of the Founder's Day Program

Faculty, Alumnae, Students — and especially the Class of 1942:

Again we pause for an hour in the onward march of college life to pay tribute of love and gratitude to the Founders of our College. For a little while we look back to measure the distance we have come, as the fruit of their work. By doing so we gain fresh impetus to go forward with the ever-deepening life stream of Woman's College, which has poured a flood-tide of useful womanhood into the life of our state for almost half a century.

It is a great moment in any woman's life when she is privileged to speak to more than two thousand young American women. I am conscious of that honor as I try to talk from the composite mother-heart of what will soon be your Alumnae Association; and from the heart of all mothers who say God bless you and keep you, as you live and work here under the stimulating influences of past and present; heirs of spiritual gifts and material wealth; with opportunities so wonderful within your reach, and with the future veiled, but full of promise.

As I stand before you with my brief message, I see a girl who sits in this audience among you freshmen—a girl with wistful eyes and intent expression. She is older than the average of you, but not so assured or well prepared for the adventure of college life. She will be embarrassed if you observe her too closely, for she looks quaintly different from the rest of you. She is dressed in a white shirt waist, well bloused in front, with a high collar pointed up under her ears. Her long black woolen skirt has many gores and a slight train. Her hair is up behind in a figure eight, and a pompadour forms a halo about her face. She looks as much as possible like the Gibson Girl of several years ago. Please don't smile too broadly, for that girl is I when I entered Woman's College. May I say to you today a few of the things that I wish might have been said to her then as she made anxious notes on the tablet which she held in her hand?

Mrs. Holoman in her garden

A poet sang to me—

"I slept and dreamed that life was Beauty;
I woke and found that life is Duty."

"Duty first" was thundered at me from rostrum and classroom. Perhaps here and there a small voice whispered "Beauty," but I was too inhibited to hear, too timid to act, so for years I "Toiled on, sad heart, courageously," eating all the cores of my apples, before I discovered that the words "Duty" and "Beauty," and their ways of life, may be synonymous. Now I believe that any duty which does not become beautiful in the doing is a deadly task. "Where a dream argues the death of an old duty, I am yours, O Beauty!" The most womanly wish in your hearts today is for beauty of mind, soul, and body, and my message for you is this: "Seek after beauty with your whole heart." In so doing you will secure for yourself a measure of happiness, and certainly will have performed the first duty to your world.

James Montgomery Flagg, the artist, surprised some of his friends by acting as judge in beauty contests. He explained his interest by saying that he hoped sometime to find a beautiful woman. America is full of pretty girls: they fill our college halls, throng our streets, work behind counters and in offices, and smile at us from the silver screen. But beautiful girls are rare.

Styles in beauty change, but there is a mysterious element of beauty which remains constant. It comes not from a set of features, but from certain characteristics: poise, courage, kindness, humor, vitality; and to these I would add spirituality, which is beauty's halo. Of these, poise is rightly first. Poise is the essence of dignity, the charm of simplicity, the sureness of faith in yourself, the ability to wait quietly when in doubt.

As your first step towards gaining the beauty of poise, Class of 1942, I ask you to know many people, both men and women. I was taught to know books. Books are necessary for cultured living, but they are merely mirrors of life, some of them steady and true, many of them wavering and distorting. I ask you especially to know the six hundred members of your class. Know their faces, their names, and whence they come. Memorize these facts as guide posts in your search for a deeper knowledge of them. Plunge into the complex wonders of the varying personalities about you, thereby discovering unguessed powers within them, electric sparks which will fire your imagination and stimulate your own capacity for thinking and loving. As you give understanding and sympathy, thus identifying yourself with the individual, you become that person for the time being, but with a clarity of critical judgment that adds immeasurably to the strength and richness of your own personality. In knowing many girls, you avoid the pitfall of too intimate acquaintance with a few. There lies a danger of becoming yourself a mirror of those selected few, instead of a rich personality, growing steadily in the beauty of poise as the years pass.

Cultivate ease and graciousness in your manner as you approach your friends. Attend carefully to the details of dress, and learn to know your way about among women as well as among men, for it is with women that you will be associated most during your life. Our American social life is so keyed, except in larger centers, that in church and club work, in political activities, or wherever we may be, we are more or less segregated with our friends the women; and the men, God bless 'em, also go off clannishly to their own rendezvous of high adventure! So at least to avoid loneliness and boredom, learn now to enjoy the society of girls. Seek to know your campus leaders who have been tried in the court of public opinion and found worthy. If they seem detached and hard to know, take a little time off to study them and to find their points of easiest approach. You may even read with pleasure and profit, Dale Carnegie's "How to Win Friends and Influence People"! Strip from yourself preconceived ideas of people, and approach them with an open mind. Don't be conditioned against certain persons by a resemblance to some one whom you dislike. Learn to love those who are imperfect as well as those whom you believe to be perfect. Certainly you will thus have more friends, and fewer disappointments in them.

The Greeks taught us to honor perfection; but perfection dwells only in death, locked in the cold lines of marble. Jesus Christ taught us to love the imperfect, because there lies the need and possibility for growth. Rejoice in the imperfections of your classmates, for there you will find good growing company for you. Rejoice in the imperfections which you may discover in your college, for there is work for you to do, some contribution which you can make to its developing life.

Again, I would have you learn to know your teachers, and to become friends with them—those aloof erudite souls, so strong in their refinement of exactitude, who seemingly dwell on Olympian Heights, but who on close acquaintance are so warmly human and approachable, so charmingly cultured, who welcome intimacy with the fresh young life about them. By all means learn to know your college Dean. He too welcomes your friendship. When you have an opportunity, shake hands with him and tell him your name. I dare say he will know you the second time that he meets you.

Again, in your quest for poise, or tranquillity—call it what you will, study to make yourself master of at least one line of work. Nothing else will give you quite so much self possession and assurance as knowing that you know. Impose upon yourself the discipline of hard work, and remove from the shoulders of your teachers the responsibility of educating you. Take this thrilling adventure upon yourself. Outgrow your high school attitude that "Tomorrow's lesson is from page 30 to 45 with a test on Tuesday."

A determined little boy who mixes his pronouns, but knows what he wants, said to his grandmother who wanted to help him with his breakfast, "Grandmother, I don't want you to feed you." He wanted the fun of spooning his own cream-of-wheat. Why should you at your age expect your teachers to spoon your mental pabulum? Learn the fun of feeding your own mind.

Our time is limited and we seem to be going afar in our search for poise and beauty, but remember we are seeking a life time treatment for beauty which is more than skin deep.

Looking forward four years hence, we visualize the Class of 1942 with serene, uplifted faces, illuminated with that spirit of courage which meets defeat, but is still undefeated; with that kindness which is the simplicity of religion; with humor which lights the darkest hours; with the vitality of splendid health and conserved emotional energies, and with that halo of spirituality which comes with thinking and loving, with laughter and tears, with much prayer, and service to others.

Shop Talk

It will be good news to the alumnae to hear that the next Alumnae Seminar, our fifth, is to be held next spring, and that the subject will be SOUTHERN WRITERS. Southern writers are to be invited to give the lectures. Plans are now in process of formation, and as soon as possible a detailed announcement will be made. In the meantime, do put the Alumnae Seminar on Southern Writers on your schedule of must events. Begin now to write around to your classmates and College friends, and arrange to meet them in Alumnae House then.

On November 7, ground was broken for the erection of the long-hoped for and long-needed Science Building, at an approximate cost of $300,000.00. It will stand on the old hockey field, south of Mary Foust dormitory, and will house the departments of Biology, Chemistry, and Physics. On this day also, the construction of a new dining hall was commenced at an approximate cost of $70,000.00, with a seating capacity of 500. This dining hall is the fifth point in a five-point star construction, consisting of four dining halls and one kitchen, all projecting from a single service center. Two new dormitories are to be commenced shortly, at a cost of $160,000.00, with a room capacity of 140 students each. They will be located on the north end of the quadrangle, in line with East and West dormitories. Complete remodelling of Spencer dormitory (Rockingham) and McIver Building are also definitely assured. This new construction was made possible by a 45 per cent grant from the PWA and a 55 per cent supplement by the special Legislature.

Request has been made of the PWA for a recreation center for students, but no decision as to this grant has yet been received by the College authorities.

One afternoon last April, the Alumnae County Alumnae Association held its spring meeting in Alumnae House, bringing as special guests approximately 200 Alamance County senior high school girls. It was a thrilling occasion. The Alamance group had several purposes in mind, among them: to have the joy and experience themselves of meeting in their own House on the campus; to give expression to the pride they have in their own College by "showing" it to this coming generation of college students; to interest good college material in applying for admission here, and to give an opportunity to those high school students in the group who did not expect to go to college a chance to see at somewhat close range one of the largest and best colleges for women in the country. Mrs. Don Holt (Margaret McConnell '30), chairman, set the plans in motion, and steered them to success. She had splendid cooperation from the county school officials and from the teachers and alumnae in general. After a program and tea in Alumnae House, the young visitors—who incidentally took more than one bow for their poise and general manner of bearing, were conducted over the campus by student guides. We hope that the Alamance Association will permit itself to be encoered, and that other local clubs and associations will become like-minded.

Thanks and congratulations to the Alumnae Committee on the Founder's Day Program: Evelyn Hoyle Ripple, chairman; Virginia Batte Johnson; Marguerite Smith; Janet Griffin; and Willow Way Benbow. With the assistance of the Alumnae Office, they prepared a College Question Bee—100 questions and answers about the College. It was widely used by our local clubs and associations. Besides all the information the Question Bee disseminated, it was great fun!

The enrollment this year has reached a new high—2,083. Of these, 305 are out-of-state students, representing 22 states and 3 foreign countries. The great majority—1,778—are of course North Carolina girls, from 97 counties. Guilford leads, with 322; of these, 300 are day students. Mecklenburg is second, with 66; of these, 51 come from the Charlotte high schools.

The religious affiliations of students at Woman's College rank numerically as follows: Methodists 628; Baptists 438; Presbyterians 341; and Episcopalians 137. In all, 23 denominations are represented.

On October 29, Miss Etta Spier, Professor of Education at Woman's College, and member of our first student body, died at Wesley Long Hospital, Greensboro. She was carrying a full program of regular college teaching at the time illness developed. On behalf of the Alumnae Association, the Alumnae News wishes at this time simply to express to Miss Spier's family and to her host of friends, our deepest sympathy and sense of loss. Since this number of the News was already being printed when death occurred, there was not time to prepare and include an adequate tribute to her. But this will be done later.

Presenting the Twenty-five New Members of the Faculty

Art Department

Dorothy McIlvaine, instructor. BSA University of Washington; MA Teachers College, Columbia University. Assistant professor of art, University of Delaware; instructor Illinois State Normal; instructor West Washington College.

Chemistry Department

Florence Olson, instructor. AB University of South Dakota; MA University of South Dakota; PhD State University of Iowa. Assistant in Chemistry Department, University of South Dakota; instructor State University of Iowa; chemical laboratory, Omaha Cold Storage Company.

Commercial Department

Barbara Perecinic, instructor. BS Ohio State University.

Dietitian

Mabel Swanson. BS in Home Economics, University of Washington; MS Teachers College, Columbia University. Director of dining halls and instructor in home economics at Ohio University.

Economics Department

Charles Anderson, assistant professor. BA Johnson Bible College; MA University of Michigan. Instructor in economics three years, University of North Carolina; assistant professor of economics and real estate, University of Florida.

English Department

John E. Bridgers, Jr., associate professor. BA Duke University; MA Harvard. Instructor two years at Duke; assistant professor eight years at Hobart College; last year member of the faculty of Brooklyn College.

Wilbur Dorsett, assistant in dramatics. AB and MA University of North Carolina; last summer technical director "The Lost Colony."

Mrs. Kathleen Sharer Painter, substitute in English for first semester. AB University of Tennessee; taught English Bessemer, Alabama, high school; taught at Woman's College one year.

Home Economics

Bernice Allen, field teacher trainer. BS and MS Columbia University. Home demonstration agent Halifax County, N. C.; head of the clothing and textile division of the Home Economics School of Washington State College.

Mabel G. Bowers, instructor in charge of teacher training conducted by the department at Greensboro High School. BS and MS University of Texas. Supervisory teaching Austin (Texas) high school; supervisory teaching University of Texas.

Mabel Campbell, professor. She will direct the work on Master's thesis in this department. BS Iowa State University; graduate study Ohio State University and University of Chicago. Head of the Home Economics Department at the University of Missouri; former teacher University of Kentucky and Rhode Island University; federal agent of home economics education for twenty-three states.

Frances Forbes, director of the Nursery School. BS and MS University of Georgia. Merrill-Palmer School, Detroit; owner and operator of Camp Chattooga.

Lucille McMackin, assistant professor. in charge of cafeteria. BS and MS Western Reserve University; administrative dietitian for four University hospitals for Western Reserve University and member of the teaching faculty.

Library

Sara Bowling, order assistant and secretary to the librarian. BS Judson College; BSLS University of North Carolina.

Alice L. Boyd, reserve librarian and circulation assistant. BA University of North Dakota; MA University of Cincinnati; BS in Library Science Western Reserve University.

Anna M. Urban, reference assistant and instructor in library use. BA Cornell University; BA in Library Science, Emory University.

Medical Staff

Helen M. Dean, associate physician. MD University of Minnesota. Member of the medical staff Smith College.

Physical Education Department

Miriam A. Shelden, instructor. BS Russell Sage College; MA New York University.

Claire Hartsook, substitute. BSPE Woman's College U. N. C.

Residence Department

Rebecca Cole, counsellor in Cotten. BS University of Michigan; MS Syracuse University. Former teacher in the Knoxville, Tennessee, schools.

Hazel Clark, counsellor in North Spencer. BS Columbia University; MS Columbia University. Assistant dean of women Meredith College; assistant director of residence, Florida State College for Women.

School of Music

George Dickieson, instructor in violin and director of the chorus at Curry School. BM Salem College; graduate work Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

Harper Stephens, instructor. BS Michigan State College; student Christiansen School; pupil of Louis Graveure.

Secretarial Science

Vance T. Littlejohn, instructor. BS in Commercial Teacher Training. Bowling Green (Ohio) College of Commerce; Ed.M degree in Commercial Education, University of Pittsburgh. Former teacher of commercial subjects, Jeannette, Pennsylvania, High School.

Secretarial Staff

Lucy Spinks, secretary to the Class Chairmen. BSSA Woman's College U. N. C., class of 1938.

Resignations

Art Department, Alma Sparger; Chemistry Department, Elizabeth Cook; Commercial Department, Ruby Lawder; Dietitian, Hope Coolidge; Education, Eunice Ann Lloyd; English, Dr. E. R. Moses; Home Economics, Emeve Paul Singletary; Library, Mary Ruth Angle; Medical Staff, Dr. Aurelia Gill; Secretarial Science, B. Frank Kyker; Secretarial Staff, Elizabeth Kellam.

Leave of Absence was granted to the following persons:

May Bush, instructor in English; Dorothy Clement, instructor in Music; Mary C. Coleman, head of the Department of Physical Education; Josephine Hege, counsellor; Mildred Newton, secretary to the registrar; Katherine Sherrill, counsellor; Blanche Tansil, associate professor of home economics; Hope Tisdale, assistant professor of physical education.

The Family Tree

ANNE ALBRIGHT

Class of 1915

Anne Albright, dean of women at Western Carolina Teachers College, was signally honored last summer when she was extended an invitation to attend the Summer Session on International Law of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, held for the

ANNE ALBRIGHT

Looking mighty pleasant—to be reading term papers seventh time this year at the University of Michigan. Only fifty persons receive this invitation each year, and they are carefully chosen from all sections of the country. Anne says it was a thrilling experience to be a member of this group for over a month. Anne holds her MA degree from Columbia University. In addition to her work as dean of women, she teaches classes in ancient and medieval history, and is a thoughtful student of international affairs.

RUTH VICK EVERETT

Class of 1921

Ruth Vick Everett bears the official title of Field Secretary for the North Carolina Education Association. The first person to occupy this position, she is creating the role! We can be sure that many miles of travel will be a large part of it; that speech-making will take many a bow; that general stimulation of the local associations will follow in the wake of her endeavors. Perhaps that will be enough. Ruth taught English in the Seaboard high school for a number of years. Last year she was president of the Carolina Dramatic Association. During the summer she taught in the dramatic art summer school for high school students conducted at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill. She is also chairman of the Literature department of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, and she is a member of Chi Omega. In the midst of the comings and goings, she has found time to watch a pretty new house erected. It is English architecture—white clapboards, green blinds, a fireplace, an attic.

KATHERINE GRANTHAM

Class of 1926

Katherine Grantham always did scintillate and sparkle. With her net is meteoric.

If you tuned in last winter on the Cavalcade of America, DuPont hour, Columbia network, and heard the excellent dramatic presentation of the story of Mergenthaler, inventor of the linotype, you listened to a script written by Katherine. She is occupationally titled radio feature writer with the United Press Radio, New York City. That covers a multitude of commissions. Among other things she is a fashion "expert"; runs around to all the fashion salons, and then talks about it. She also writes "Women in the News," "Hollywood Gossip"—a block that goes to radio stations everywhere—is of her creation. And while all this and more is going on, she waits, but not meekly, and murmurs about the great American novel, into which she vows to put "people like you."

After her graduation from Woman's College, Katherine was awarded the Graham Kenan Fellowship in philosophy at Chapel Hill, spent a year in study there, and won the prize for the best thesis submitted in philosophy that year. Later she took her M.A. degree in English at Columbia University. She has taught English in high school; was a reporter and book review editor for some time on the Charlotte News; co-author of "Roses and Drums," civil war radio drama; author of articles in Silver Screen; and has done radio publicity for the J. Walter Thompson Advertising Agency. She is now in Washington City.

MARY ELIZABETH KEISTER

Class of 1934

Mary Elizabeth Keister is this year principal of the Nursery School at the University of Chicago—splendid honors and responsibility for so young a woman. After her graduation here, she stepped by virtue of a fellowship into a two-year job of assistant teacher in the pre-school laboratories of the Iowa Child Welfare Research Station, conducted by the University of Iowa. At the same time she worked zealously toward a Master's degree. This degree, in the field of Child Development, was awarded in 1936. Incidentally, her Master's thesis—"A Study of Children's Reactions to Failure and an Experimental Attempt to Modify Them"—submitted in competition with Ph.D. manuscripts, won for her the annual prize of $50.00 offered by the George Davis Bivin Foundation, Cleveland. This success led her to the University of Chicago, where she was an assistant in the Nursery School, and last year to the University of Minnesota, where she was in charge of the Nursery School during the absence of its head. Now she is back in Chicago, full fledged, and all on her own. Katherine Keister '36, a sister, is also in Chicago this winter as secretary in the School of Home Economics of Chicago University. These young women are daughters of Dr. A. S. Keister, head of the Department of Economics at Woman's College, and member of the Greensboro City Council.

ADA WILLIAMS

Class of 1936

If you fly from New York to California, or to points between, by way of United Airlines—one of the great air transport companies operating between the east and west coasts, and have your meals en route, it might be very pleasant to know that Ada Williams '36 is the nutritionist for this company, and had a hand in preparing your dinner. Since last spring she has been assistant to the superintendent of the food service department of United Air Lines. Giving the flying public tasty, well-balanced, and well-served meals is rapidly becoming an art, and "perfect aerial food"—to quote Ada—"is our objective." Her job is varied. The company's new office building in Chicago houses an experimental kitchen for preparing meals to be served to the one hundred and fifty passengers per day who pass through this city. She helps to see that caterers at the various stations supply the meals for the planes; checks closely with the stewardess to evaluate the efficiency of the caterers, as well as to discover the likes and dislikes of the passengers. Company commissaries are gradually being established at all of the points along the line to take the place of the caterers, so that the company's meals may be individual in comparison with other lines, and yet of a uniform high standard; and that the company may have direct control of the food. The food service has grown from a sandwich and an apple, through the stage of fried chicken three times a day, to the point where a delicious three-course meal is served at the appropriate hour. Babies and invalids who require special foods also have their needs met. One weekly commuter, flying between Chicago and Newark, was for a long while on a diet of lamb chops, pineapple, and coffee. This was regularly supplied her.

EUGENE OWEN

M.A. Class of 1930

Eugene Owen, Ph.D. George Washington University '34, education, first of our three alumni, is now a member of the editorial division of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, having for his special field, research and writing on social and labor conditions and legislation of Latin-America. The results of his studies are published in the Monthly Labor Review. The Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Geography is also one of the magazines which publishes articles written by Mr. Owen. "The Sabbatical Year" is the title of a manuscript published in the January number of Agricultural History, quarterly journal of the Agricultural History Society. This treatise has been reprinted in pamphlet form for further distribution.

CORNELIA McKIMMON

Class of 1931

Congratulations to Cornelia McKimmon, attorney-at-law—the last of the Woman's College alumnae to don the Portia toga. And double congratulations because out of the large number of applicants for a license to practice law in the state, who took the State Board Examination last August, only 56 per cent passed. Cornelia took the oath in Wake Superior Court in the presence of a company of relatives and friends. How does it seem, Honorable Cornelia, to hold the scales of justice in your hands? But she isn't a bit heroic about it. She declares she took up the study of law as a sort of hobby, but that soon it had captured her. Her study was restricted entirely to night school for three winters. During the day she worked in the State Department of Revenue. "I secured this job after two years of starving as a school teacher!" she says. These years of work familiarized her, however, with the subject of taxation, and she says that legal work in the field of taxation interests her most. She is absolutely sure of one thing—that she wants to do legal work of some kind, and she is on the search for her particular niche.

CORNELIA McKIMMON
Our latest Portia

CATHERINE PACE COX Class of 1933

Catherine Pace Cox went to the Philippines in 1936 to teach physical education in Brent School, Baguio—a private boarding school for American and European boys and girls, conducted under the auspices of the Epis-

CATHERINE PACE COX

"On the fence"—in the Philippines

copal Church, and patterned along the conservative lines of the fine old church schools in the United States. Baguio is found on the map about two hundred miles north of Manila. It is the mountain resort of the Far East, with an elevation of 6,000 feet. Catherine once wrote—"Try to picture Pinehurst at Blowing Rock, and you have Baguio." The majority of the students in the school are children of army and navy families, American business men, and government officials. The school begins with the first grade and prepares for college. Baguio, though not a large city, is cosmopolitan. In a walk through its streets one would see cars with license plates from almost every country. For vacation trips, and "in between" diversions, Catherine joins parties to Banakok, Singapore, Java, Isle of Bali, and what have you in the East.

At the present time, she is at her home in Kinston on a visit to her parents. Incidentally, she is the daughter of Catherine Pace Cox '02. En route home, Catherine Pace Junior disembarked at Genoa, for a two month's stay in Europe.

ALICE JOHNSON Class of 1935

Alice Johnson is this year an instructor at the Boston Floating Hospital, and assistant to the superintendent of nurses. As if this were not enough, she has charge of the hospital in the absence of the superintendent. The Boston Floating is a long-established hospital for children. It was originally organized on a ship, in order that the children might have trips on the water and sea air as part of their cure. Now it is located permanently on land. Alice teaches pediatric nursing to the student nurses, and gives courses in ward management to the graduate nurses. In her classes in pediatrics, a number of medical students are also included. Alice entered the Yale School of Nursing the year after her graduation from Woman's College, having been awarded a scholarship for the first year of study there. During the three years she was a student at Yale, she taught chemistry to the student nurses in the School of Nursing, for which she received remuneration. When she was awarded her M.A. degree last June, she was one of the two students in the School of Nursing who were permitted to receive their diplomas from the stage and from the hands of President Seymour. To them also were entrusted the diplomas for the other graduates in this School. Alice is also an R.N. in the states of Connecticut and Massachusetts.

Congratulations to her on the truly real success she has so justly earned!

MARTHA BLAKENEY HODGES Class of 1918

Luther H. Hodges, whose wife is Martha Blakeney '18, is general manager of the manufacturing division of Marshall Field and Company. He has been connected with this great establishment for about twenty years, and in his career exemplifies again the great American saga, that a man may begin with his foot on the bottom round—the place where perhaps he should always begin—and climb to the manager's chair! The name of Marshall Field is one to conjure with in the world of manufacturing and finance. It did itself proud in choosing Luther Hodges for this post of eminence and responsibility. He is a university man. During vacation periods, he worked in the mills; at one time he was office boy in the general office at Spray, and from actual experience he knows the work and the life of the rank and file. Step by step, promotion by promotion, he built himself solidly into the organization, and brought to his present post of great responsibility the knowledge, personality, character, and ability upon which he has built his career.

ELISE WEATHERLY PEARSON Class of 1896

T. Gilbert Pearson, whose wife is Elise Weatherly '96, is a world figure in bird preservation. He is chairman of the International Committee for Bird Preservation—a committee organized in 1922, which includes representatives from twenty-six foreign countries. Moreover, for ten years he was executive secretary of the National Association of Audubon Societies, Inc. From 1920 until very recently, he was president of the National Association. He has lectured and travelled throughout the world in the interest of birds, and is the author of several books: "The Bird Study Book"; "Tales from Bird Land"; "Stories of Bird Life"; "Adventures in Bird Protection." He is editor-in-chief of "Birds of America," and senior author of "Birds of North Carolina." Dr. Pearson is a frequent contributor to scientific and popular magazines devoted to ornithology. He is a member of numerous clubs—the Cosmos Club, the Explorers Club, the Boone and Crockett Club, the Camp Fire Club of America. In 1925, he was decorated with the national order of the oaken crown of Luxembourg, and the year previous, the University of North Carolina conferred upon him the honorary degree of LL.D. Of special interest to Woman's College alumnae is the fact that Dr. Pearson taught biology here from 1901 to 1904. The Pearsons live in New York. They have a daughter and two sons.

The Student Leaders' Conference

By MAXINE GARNER '39

Fellowship, discussion increased understanding—all figured in the 1938 Student Leaders' Conference held September 7, 8, 9, 10 in the Y Hut on the College campus.

Miss Harriet Elliott, dean of Women, and Emily Harris, president of the Student Government Association, divided the delegates into four committees—the Blue Book Committee, Gertrude Rainey, Martinsville, New Jersey, vice president of the Student Government Association, chairman; the Social Committee, Nancy McManaway, Hendersonville, student chairman of the College Social Committee, chairman; Committee on Religion, Susannah Thomas, Wadesboro, president of the Y. W. C. A., chairman; the Committee on Health, Maxine Garner, Liberty, editor of Caro- linian, chairman. Administration officials, members of the faculty and of the residence staff who had been invited to attend the meetings served as welcome and popular aids.

Each group studied separately and intensively the problems assigned to it, and reported afterwards at a general session for further discussion and action by the conference as a whole.

Changes in the Blue Book of Regulations were presented on Tuesday afternoon with Gertrude Rainey presiding. Freshmen chaperonage rules were amended to make them more effective in actual practice.

Nancy McManaway and her committee proposed that the cost of formal dances be kept to a more reasonable maximum figure than formerly. In this connection the recommendation that the two older societies respectively join with the two younger societies for two rather than four society formals was approved. The number of informal dances to be held were reduced proportionately in order to relieve an overcrowded college calendar and to make provision for those students who do not dance. The new moving picture equipment in Aycock has also added substantially to the recreation program on the campus.

After a six-weeks session at a Y Presidents' School sponsored jointly by Union Theological Seminary and Columbia University in New York City, Susannah Thomas was qualified to present a reorganized religious set-up for the college. Susannah's sister, Martha '36, was also president of the Y. W. C. A. in her senior year. Miss Wilmina Rowland, director of religious activities, has contributed a great deal to our program by the extensive study she has made of religious life at the college. The revamped organization is designed to infuse the Y with new energy and purpose without at all minimizing the denominational groups and their invaluable functions. Interesting and gratifying to conference delegates was the statement of an overwhelming majority of students last spring in a campus-wide questionnaire that religion was an absolute necessity in their lives.

VIEW OF THE STUDENT LEADERS' CONFERENCE IN SESSION IN THE Y. W. C. A. HUT SEPTEMBER 7, 8, 9.

The Conference was composed of Student Government Association officials, members of the Student Legislature and Judicial Board, Presidents of the Societies, Editors of the three Student Publications, the Chief Marshal, Presidents of the Classes, President of the Y.W.C.A., President of the Athletic Association, Student Social Chairman, Big Sister Chairman, Special Y Representative, House Presidents, the Dean of Administration, the Dean of Women, the Student Counsellors, the College Physician, faculty members who are members of the Student Legislature, Class Chairmen, Director of Religious Activities, Director of Public Relations, Advisor to the Town Students, and the Alumnae Secretary.

From left to right may be identified Emily Harris, president of the Student Government Association, Dean Jackson, and Miss Helen Burns, freshman class chairman.

The committee on health problems offered recommendations Friday morning, the last day of conference business, with Maxine Garner in charge. Quiet during study hour was a problem which the committee passed on (as committees are in the habit of passing on) to the hall proctors—y o u n g women who are playing important parts in college life this year. More consequential, possibly, was their disposal of the campus refreshment difficulty. Miss Margaret Edwards, head of the Home Economics faculty, directs the plans whereby the Tavern is kept open on week nights as well as during week ends. A special feature (such as chicken salad or steak sandwiches) is offered each week.

A buffet supper with Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Jackson was a pretty event that the students cannot soon forget. A picnic at Jefferson Country Club and an informal buffet affair in the Y Hut also added to our enjoyment.

Talks by Dean Jackson, Mr. C. W. Phillips, and Emily Harris featured the conference.

As Dr. Hutchins of Chicago would say (and, some one else once put it, who are we to break with precedent by not quoting Dr. Hutchins?) students and faculty at the Woman's College not only believe that college is preparation for life, but that it is life itself. And they are acting magnificently, we believe, on that principle.

MEMBERS OF CLASS OF 1938 AND ONE JUNIOR, ELECTED TO PHI BETA KAPPA

- First row* (left to right)—Gwendolyn MacMullin (also winner of Weil Fellowship), graduate student in romance languages, Chapel Hill; Katherine Causey, free-lance writing, at home Greensboro; Georgia Arnett, graduate student, University of Louisiana.
- Second row*—Eileen Gamble, at home, Savannah, Ga.; Mary Boney, teaching seventh grade, Fort Bragg; Marie Hedgepeth, working in a physician's office, Greensboro; Catherine Davis, teaching mathematics, Belmont High School; Blair Lyle, junior clerk for C.A.C.A., Keysville, Va.
- Third row*—Marie Sette, medical social worker, Queens General Hospital, Jamaica, L. I.; Helen Lewis, at home, Marshallberg; Ruth Westcott, teaching elementary work, Annapolis, Md.; Frances Mullican, graduate student in library science, Chapel Hill; Sarah Click, student School of Fine Arts, Yale University.
- Fourth row*—Mary Elizabeth Shaw, teaching English in the Pittsboro High School; Susanne McLaurin, graduate student, Library Science, Chapel Hill; Adrienne Wormser, section manager, R. H. Macy & Company, New York; Annie Howard Sisk, teaching English in the Rockingham High School; Jane Dupuy '39, senior, Woman's College.

Affairs of the Local Clubs • and Associations •

Alamance Association. A large group of enthusiastic alumnae gathered at a four-course dinner meeting in Burlington on Founder's Day eve, to celebrate the anniversary of our College. Margaret (McConnell) Holt, chairman, presided, welcomed the guests, and presented Margaret (Plonk) Isley, general chairman. Florine Robertson made the invocation, after which we listened to Jean Graham, violinist, and Grace Carmichael, pianist. Upon recommendation of the nominating committee, Mrs. Frank Moore, chairman, the following persons were elected for the coming year: president, Inez Ridenhour; Florine Robertson and Margaret Riddle were continued in their respective places as secretary and treasurer. The group also voted to send greetings to the college for Founder's Day. Miss Harriet Elliott, dean of women, was the guest speaker. She discussed interesting phases of the present college program—the social program and the building plans. She impressed upon us that the student body must be made up of the finest girls that the alumnae can send. During the evening, Mrs. Isley expressed sincere appreciation to the following committees: Program, Nina Garner, chairman; Invitation, Margaret Riddle, chairman; Decorations, Eva (Goforth) Barker and Anne (Watkins) Fonville; Arrangements, Carrie McLean Taylor, chairman. Our three vice chairmen were also most helpful in carrying out the plans: Helen (Murchison) Tucker, Burlington; Conley (Albright) Bason, Graham; Lucille James, Mebane.

Margaret (McConnell) Holt, Retiring Chairman.

Anson County Association. Ann Little Masemore, chairman, presided at the meeting of Anson alumnae, held on Tuesday evening, October 4, in Wadesboro. Annie Lee (Harper) Liles called the roll and college songs were sung. Jeanne (Ellington) Allen took the role of the "teacher" in the "College Question Bee"—a host of questions and answers which brought before us in entertaining review many interesting things about the College from its founding to the present time. New officers were elected as follows: chairman, Dorothy Fetzner Baughan; Annabel Martin, secretary. The social hour, with delicious refreshments, brought our meeting to a close.

Annabel Martin, Secretary.

Alexander Association. Alumnae in Alexander County met at the home of Sue Ramsey Johnston, Taylorsville, on the evening of Founder's Day. Gladys Campbell was in charge. Every period of the College history was represented among those present. "The College Question Bee" was used by way of program. In addition, Louise (Woodruff) Kelly told something of Dr. McIver, as she knew him. Although the number of Woman's College alumnae in this county is small, they are loyal to the College and interested in its development.

Forsyth County Association. Alumnae in Winston-Salem enjoyed celebrating Founder's Day at an informal meeting in the Sally Southern Tea Room on the evening of October 5. The main feature of the program was the College Question Bee, compiled for the use of local associations everywhere by a committee of our own members: Evelyn Gordon Ripple, Virginia Batte Johnson, Marguerite Smith, Janet Griffin and Willow Way Benbow. It was interesting to us to know that many other alumnae were asking and answering these same questions at the same time. Marguerite Smith, chairman of our chapter, presided, and Mrs. Ripple conducted the quiz between the "Yellows" and the "Whites." Much to the surprise of the "Yellows," the "Whites" proved to be better informed than they about Alma Mater! The spirited competition added much to the enjoyment of the occasion. During the business meeting, the following officers were chosen for this year: chairman, Kathleen Hall; vice chairman, Iris Stith; secretary, Willow Way Benbow.

Guilford County Association. With Marie Cranford Carter, new chairman, presiding for the first time, Guilford County alumnae gathered in Alumnae House on the afternoon of October 5. Mrs. Carter spoke words of welcome to the alumnae and their special guests—members of the faculty and a number of visiting alumnae from neighboring associations. Allen Tate, poet, critic, novelist, now a member of the faculty in the Department of English, was the featured speaker. He was introduced by Mary Sue Weaver Allison. Mr. Tate told us first how and why he came to write his new novel, The Fathers. It was an interesting story. He concluded with reading a number of his own poems, and responded to the request for encores. Estelle Mendenhall LeGwin, soprano, accompanied by Kathryn Brown Hodgkin, sang beautifully a group of German and English songs. Among the special guests presented on this occasion were President and Mrs. Frank P. Graham, Dr. and Mrs. Julius I. Foust, and Dr. Wade R. Brown, home from a year in Europe. At the conclusion of the program punch was served in the living room by Dr. Gove and Annie McIver Young, and in the library by Miss Petty. At a business meeting previous to the Founder's Day occasion, the following officers were elected for this year: chairman, Marie Cranford Carter (Mrs. W. L.); vice chairman, Kate Robinson Farr (Mrs. W. B.); secretary, Betty Brown Jester (Mrs. Carlton); treasurer, Mary H. Robinson Peterson (Mrs. J. A.).

Betty Brown Jester, Secretary.

High Point Association. Our Association commemorated Founder's Day with a benefit bridge party, held on the evening of October 6 at the home of Mrs. M. J. Wrenn. The following day a check for $25.00 was sent to the Alumnae Office to apply on the purchase of china, linen, and silver. Before play began, Marion (Barber) Moffitt, president, conducted a brief business session, during which the following new officers were elected to serve the current year: president, Frances (Welch) Cridlebaugh; secretary-treasurer, Alma Virginia McCain. Mrs. Wrenn's spacious home was beautifully decorated for the occasion. She was assisted in receiving by Pattie (Jordaa) Alexander, a member of the committee in charge. Special guests were Dr. and Mrs. Julius I. Foust, and Miss Edna Forney and Sarah Henry, alumnae in the Woman's College faculty. Many handsome prizes, donated by local merchants were awarded, and dainty refreshments served.

Louise Bell, Retiring Secretary.

Harnett Association. At the call of Nettie (Rudisill) Godwin, chairman, a large group of enthusiastic alumnae met on the evening of October 5 at the home of Mrs. H. M. Pittman, Dunn. Mrs. E. P. Davis and her sister Jessie Smith, both students at the College in its early years, made interesting talks about Dr. McIver as they remembered him personally. One of his pictures and a map of the College as it is today were on display. A voice number, rendered by Mrs. Thad Pope, with Mrs. J. Shepard Bryan accompanying, preceded a short talk by Elizabeth Draughton on "The Alumnae House—Our Home on the Campus." As a rather thrilling conclusion to the program, Agnes (Warren) Stephens led the "College Question Bee," which certainly tested what an alumna knows about her college! During the business session, the following new officers were elected to serve during the current year: chairman, Agnes (Warren) Stephens; Mrs. Charles Skinner, secretary-treasurer. It was also decided to have a benefit for the Alumnae House in the near future, and the following committee on arrangements was appointed: Mrs. E. P. Davis, Mrs. B. C. Pridgen, Mrs. Charles Skinner. Delicious refreshments were served.

Iredell County Association. Iredell County alumnae met in the Mooresville Community House on the evening of Founder's Day. The hall was patriotically decorated in yellow and white flowers, and as the guests entered they were given one or the other. In this way, "sides" were chosen for the Question Bee. Aylene Edwards Cooke served as "teacher," and asked the questions. Mazie Spinks Jones stood up longest, and was declared the winner. For a "birthday cake," individual cup cakes were served, iced, each bearing a tiny yellow candle, lighted. During a business session, officers were elected for the coming year. Chairman, Aylene (Edwards) Cooke, Mooresville, with Christine (Rutledge) Rickert, Statesville, co-chairman; secretary, Mazie (Spinks) Jones.

Lexington Association. On Friday evening, October 7, Auvila Lindsay Lowe was hostess to our Association at an informal meeting at Century Oaks, her charming colonial home. Mary Trice, chairman, presided. It was a special pleasure to have Professor W. R. Taylor, from the College, who read two short one-act comedies for our entertainment and enjoyment. Miss Byrd, our Secretary, was also present, bringing us the news from College and telling of current happenings there. During the business session, Dorothy Weddington read the minutes of the last meeting. Increasing our scholarship fund was discussed. Mrs. Mattie Cecil Young was elected president for the coming year, and Dorothy Weddington was continued as secretary-treasurer.

Pitt County Association. The Woman's Club in Greenville was the scene of the Founder's Day Celebration by Pitt County alumnae. Thelma (Bryan) Hilton, chairman, presided. Singing the College Song, together with individual introductions, led to our enthusiastic discussion of the "College Question Bee." What if we did "miss" many of the answers? We were not discouraged about our "education," but enjoyed greatly getting ourselves brought up-to-date. At the business meeting, the same officers were elected for another year. Hot tea and sandwiches were served by Clyde (Stancil) Blount, Lillian (Gray) Sugg, and Mrs. Hilton.

Nettie (Brogden) Herring, Secretary.

Rockingham County Association. On Founder's Day eve, October 4, our Association met at the home of Martha Blakey-Hodges, in Spray. Stella Williams Anderson, chairman, presided. For the "Question Bee" Mrs. Hodges served as "Teacher," while Sarah Catherine Hampton, "assistant teacher," held the book of answers. Gwendolyn Hampton gave a sketch of the life of Dr. McIver, and Sarah Hunt Ferguson and Mrs. Bertie Ratliffe Craig added other delightful historical bits. College songs were sung, and refreshments in the traditional yellow and white were enjoyed.

Stella Williams Anderson,
Retiring President.

Robeson County Association. With president Mary W. Huffines in charge, alumnae of the Woman's College met at the agricultural building, Lumberton, on the evening of October 5, and celebrated the founding of our College. Frances (Poole) Seawell conducted the "College Question Bee" in fine style, and old-timers and new comers alike learned something about their college. During the business meeting after the program, Isabelle Gray, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting. As new business, a small membership fee in the local association was voted, and Helen Oliver was elected chairman of the committee to draw up a constitution for the club. The chairmen of the various committees were acknowledged, and new officers were chosen as follows: president, Mrs. Morris McRae, Fairmont; vice president, Helen Oliver, Fairmont; secretary-treasurer, Mary Harper (Cobb) McGoogan. We were much pleased to have in the group Martha M. (Harper) Cobb and her daughter, Mary Harper (Cobb) McGoogan. Mrs. Cobb was a student at the College just thirty years before her daughter was graduated. College songs, punch and cookies were the closing features of the evening.

Isabelle Gray, Retiring Secretary.

Spring Hope Alumnae. Preliminary to the organization of a Woman's College Alumnae Club, Annie Cherry was hostess to the nineteen alumnae of this college who are residents of Spring Hope, at a charming affair, celebrating Founder's Day, held at the home of Mrs. Albert May. The college colors were used in all the details. Yellow fall flowers in ivory containers and many yellow and white candles created a festive atmosphere. Upon arrival guests were invited to register in a yellow and white book, over which Florence Robinson presided. Individual white birthday cakes, each carrying a burning white birthday candle in yellow holders, and yellow and white pennants, inscribed with the College initials, and tied with a spray of yellow and white flowers, were other patriotic touches. By way of program, messages were read from various members of the faculty, and pictures of college scenes, including one of the first faculty, were passed. Miss Cherry also gave a description of Alumnae House, which some of those present had not yet seen. Plans for the formation of the club were set in motion, and committees appointed.

The group felt much honored in having present Mrs. John C. Matthews, who as Mattie Lou Bolton '93 was the first young woman to receive a diploma from our College.

Stanly County Alumnae. Hotel Albemarle was the setting for a well-attended dinner meeting at which Stanly County alumnae celebrated Founder's Day. Martha (Lockhart) Rogers, chairman, did the honors of the occasion. Dr. Jackson, dean of administration at Woman's College, was the main speaker. He brought before us in graphic array current happenings on the campus, and also spoke somewhat in detail of the splendid building program which is already well under way. Present also from the college was Clara B. Byrd, Alumnae Secretary, who greeted us briefly. Pleasant little speeches, representing various college periods, were made by Mary (Snuggs) Patterson, Louise (Whitley) Rice, Winnie Moore, and Rachel Nye. Claude Grigg, superintendent of city schools, made the invocation. During the short business meeting, these officers were elected to serve this current year: chairman, Evelyn Parks; vice chairman, Rachel Nye.

Transylvania County Association. At the call of Marjorie Craig, chairman, our small but loyal group gathered at the home of Charlotte (Hatcher) Dendy, at Brevard College, on October 5, Founder's Day. The College Question Bee provided the program. New officers elected were: chairman, Charlotte (Hatcher) Dendy; secretary, Frances (McIntosh) McRae.

Washington City Club. The Washington City Club opened its 1938-39 season with a meeting held in the A.A.U.W. Club House on the evening of October 14. Vivian Kearns Toole, chairman, presided and did the honors. Miss Clara Byrd, Alumnae Secretary, was our guest of honor and speaker. She told the splendid story of alumni and alumnae work in American colleges and universities. The Question Bee, which we conducted "according to Hoyle," brought out much information regarding the college. Frances Hampton Goodridge was winner of the prize—an etching of Alumnae House, ready for framing. During the business meeting, each member present donated a penny for each year of the life of the college, and the sum was turned over as a Birthday Gift for Alumnae House. New officers were also elected for the coming year. Chairman, Catherine McIver; vice chairman, Alice Rankin; secretary-treasurer, Bella Schactman. A social half hour brought the evening to a close.

Amelia MacFadyen, Retiring Secretary.

News from the Alumnae

1898

Florence Pannill spent the summer in New York City, studying at Columbia University.

1903

Ida Hankins has returned to her work in Songdo, Korea, as a missionary for the Methodist Church.

Genevieve (Jennings) Hammer's daughter, Josephine, was married last summer in Bradentown, Florida, their home.

1909

Kate (Jeffreys) Carmichael teaches English in the Andrews High School.

1911

Eva (Goforth) Barker made an address on the theme, "The Development of Inter-Racial Good Will Through Recreation," as a part of the program which marked the recent opening of the negro recreation center in Burlington.

Ruby (Gray) Coughenour's daughter, Nancy Gray, was a student at Woman's College for the two years 1935-1937. Last fall, she entered the University at Chapel Hill as a pre-medical student. Her parents are now announcing other plans, for Nancy Gray met Postell Mood Nichols, Jr., of Charleston, S. C., and their marriage is to take place this winter. Mr. Nichols holds both M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in chemistry from the University, and is now doing research work with the DuPont laboratories at Parlin, New Jersey. The Coughenours live in Salisbury.

1913

Ruth (Groome) Love's daughter, Mary Jane, has been chosen as one of the twelve prettiest girls at Ohio State University, Athens, and in that capacity is serving as an official hostess this year. Ruth herself has a position in the national headquarters of the A.A.U.W. in Washington City.

Nell (Johnson) Toms is very active in club work in Wilmington, her home. She is identified with the activities of the Sorosis Woman's Club, the Cape Fear Garden Club, Parent-Teacher Association, Presbyterian Church Auxiliary, Bridge Club, Cape Fear Country Club.

Florence (Jeffress) Hamilton has an interesting job as home management supervisor for the Farm Security Administration of the United States Department of Agriculture. Graham is headquarters for her work. She is also interested in the work of the Graham Garden Club, and of the Burlington Business and Professional Women's Club.

1915

Gladys (Avery) Tillet, national member of the YWCA Board, was the principal speaker at the formal dedication held in connection with the opening of the new YWCA home in Salisbury early in October. In reply to a letter from Mrs. Tillet, asking Mrs. Roosevelt what Southern problems in her opinion should receive "first emphasis," the First Lady replied: reduction of freight rates, restoration of eroded farm land, and a more diversified agriculture.

1916

Claire (Henley) Atkisson was recently elected Director of the Fifth District of the North Carolina Society, Daughters of the American Revolution. She has been active in this organization for some time, having been the organizing regent of the Rachel Caldwell chapter, Greensboro, now in its fifth year.

Sadie (McBrayer) McCain was chairman of the summer round-up campaign for the North Carolina Congress of Parents and Teachers.

1917

Flossie (Harris) Spruill is a vice president of the North Carolina Congress of Parents and Teachers, in charge of extension work. She is a former president of the organization.

Ruth (Roth) Rypins' husband suffered a serious eye injury in July when a group of boys threw sand at the car in which he was driving. The sand and gravel shattered his spectacles and a bit of the broken glass punctured his left eye. He has recovered, but the accident prevented Rabbi Rypins from making a European trip which he had planned.

Euline Smith sailed August 20 from Vancouver, Canada, after a year's furlough in America from her evangelistic work in Chulwon, Korea. The early part of July, Miss Smith, who is an ordained minister, visited her sister, Thettis (Smith) Hoffner '25 in Greensboro.

1918

Dr. Lula Disosway, of St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Shanghai, China, is the author of an article in the October number of "The Spirit of Missions," entitled, "I Want the Doctor to Come Quickly." The editor prefaces the article with this interesting comment: "Dr. Disosway, who kept American churchmen spellbound by her recital of life in Saint Elizabeth's Hospital, Shanghai, while in the United States on furlough some months ago, and again charmed them with her article, St. Elizabeth Meets War's Challenge, in our March issue, has, in the accompanying article, surpassed all her former achievements as a raconteur. These vivid sketches of life in a Christian hospital make very real Bishop Roberts' statement, that the work of medical missions in the hospitals has also given the Christian workers won-

DR. LULA DISOSWAY '18
St. Elizabeth Hospital, Shanghai, China.
Holding twin boys whom she has helped come into the world!

derful opportunity to bring the gospel to hundreds of people." All through these months of danger, Dr. Disosway has remained at her post at St. Elizabeth's, operating constantly. She has recently been promoted to the rank of professor of obstetrics at St. John's medical school, where she conducts classes.

Marie (Lineberger) Richardson has recently been elected president of the Reidsville Girl Scout Council.

1919

Lucy Crisp rested and convalesced last winter and summer, and this fall accepted what she describes as an "easy" job in Macon, Georgia, as Business and Industrial Girls secretary on the staff of the YWCA.

Ione (Mebane) Mann is one of the field workers for the North Carolina Congress of Parents and Teachers.

1920

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Steele (Rouss Hayes), a son, Hobart Theodore, II, September 19, Wesley Long Hospital, Greensboro. They live in Burlington.

Marjorie Mendenhall is teaching this winter in Bradford College, Bradford, Massachusetts, an exclusive junior college in a typical New England town. The Merrimac River flows by the town, and the ocean is only eighteen miles away. Marjorie has classes in history and political science. She was invited to speak at the meeting of the Southern Historical Association to be held in New Orleans this fall, but could not attend on account of the distance.

Since the death of her husband, Agnes (Steele) Holt has been living in Biltmore.

1921

The January number of the North Carolina Parent-Teacher Bulletin carries an article on "An Experiment in Community Cooperation, Seaboard," written by Ruth Vick Everett.

1922

Helen (Creasy) Hunter is chairman of the Committee on Mental Hygiene in the Department of Health of the North Carolina Congress of Parents and Teachers. She is also chairman of publicity for the North Carolina Division of the A.A.U.W.

Nannie Tilley continued work last summer on her thesis at Duke University. She expects to receive her Ph.D. in History next June.

1923

Mary Sue (Beam) Fonville teaches social studies in the Broughton High School, Raleigh. She attended both summer sessions at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, last summer. Incidentally, Mary Sue is interested in the work of the A.A.U.W., and is adviser for the Girl Reserves in Raleigh.

Nell Craig did a good job as chairman of arrangements for the entertainment of the national Altrusa president, Mrs. Quisenberry, when she visited in Greensboro during the summer. Outstanding among the engagements for Mrs. Quisenberry was the banquet held at the King Cotton Hotel when one hundred North Carolina Altrusans met to pay courtesy to her.

May Belle (Penn) Thompson came to Greensboro in August to take up her work as personnel and training director of Meyer's Department Store. For the past four years Mrs. Thompson has been personal shopper and interpreter for R. H. Macy & Company, New York City.

Agnes Stout, Ph.D., went to New York early in June to catch a week of plays before the season closed. From New York she went on to Boston for another week, stopping en route at several neighboring places. The rest of the summer Agnes spent in Burlington, her home, and is back again this winter as head of the English Department, Queens-Chicora College, Charlotte.

Virginia (Terrell) Lathrop won $10.00 last July in the Drive Safely Contest sponsored by the Pure Oil Company of the Carolinas. Congratulations!

1924

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Jeff B. Fordham (Rebecca Norwood), a son, October 7, Columbia Hospital, Washington.

Velma Beam is this year home demonstration agent in Granville County, with headquarters at Roxboro. She gave up her job as social worker for the Cone Mills, Greensboro, to accept this new position. Incidentally, she also resigned the presidency of the Greensboro Business and Professional Women's Club, having been re-elected to serve a second term shortly before the new job was offered.

Margaret (Blakeney) Blair is third vice president of the North Carolina Congress of Parents and Teachers, in charge of the department of education.

Mary (Brannock) Blauch and her husband are living in Washington City this winter.

Elizabeth Simkins has a new position this year—periodical reference librarian at Ohio University, Athens, Ohio. She resigned her work as librarian at Ball Teachers College, Muncie, Indiana, in order to accept this new position. We remember her with great pleasure as a member of the Woman's College library staff.

1925

Frances (Brandis) Marsh lives in Arlington, Virginia. Her husband is associated with the Federal Power Commission. They have an adorable little boy nearly two years old.

Margaret E. Hight is registrar and teacher in St. Mary's Seminary, St. Mary's City, Maryland.

Beatrice (McCracken) Hall taught three courses in library science in the second summer session held at Woman's College last summer. She is librarian in the Greensboro Senior High School.

Velma Matthews spent the summer driving through England, Scotland and France.

Sara (Wiley) Carr lives in Arlington, Virginia, since her marriage last spring. She sees Frances (Brandis) Marsh often—they were friends and neighbors in Salisbury. Sara visited in Salisbury the latter part of the summer, and came to Greensboro to spend a little time with her sister, Laura Linn (Wiley) Lewis '18.

1926

Emily Cate and Ruth McLean travelled in Europe last summer. Emily is assistant professor of Physical Education at Texas State College for Women, Denton, Texas, second largest college for women in the United States.

Annie (Henderson) Cragan and her family moved to North Wilkesboro this fall, where her husband is the new superintendent of schools. They have two daughters, both of whom are now in school. They are all very happy in their new home.

Myrtle Ellen LaBarr was largely responsible for the success of the observance of National Business Women's Week, October 9-15. She is national publicity chairman, and in connection with this special week a poster in flame and Chinese red coloring, staged by Miss Kay Thomas, Fashion Editor, photographed by Miss Sophie Delar, and featuring Miss Mary Cosgrave, all prominent New York business women, was adopted as the official poster.

Mary (Stuart) Thomas lives now in Brooklyn, New York.

Katherine (Wolff) Brandon is living in Greensboro, where her husband supervises the Guilford National Park. They live in the quaint colonial house erected for the supervisor near the entrance to the Park. At a recent luncheon meeting of the Exchange Club in Greensboro, Mr. Brandon, as guest speaker, discussed the extent and purpose of national parks. The latter part of October, Katherine and her sister, Muriel Wolff—she of Play-Like fame—were visitors in Alumnae House.

1927

Sue Koon is home demonstration agent in Chatham County for the third year. Pittsboro is headquarters.

Annette May Osborne received her M.A. degree from the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, in 1929.

Cynthia Reeves is this year president of the Greensboro Classroom Teachers Association.

Mary E. Young is back again at Rio Grande College in Ohio, as dean of women and professor of education. She is active in the A.A.U.W., is pianist for the church she attends, and also teaches a Sunday School class.

1928

Martha Biggs is serving as home management supervisor for the Farm Security Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Charlotte Copping is case worker in the Craven County Welfare office. She said she very much enjoyed the alumnae meeting held in New Bern honoring Founder's Day, when students of the early years told about the College as they knew it, and the more recent alumnae described it as of today.

Vivian (Kearns) Toole lives at Liriodendron, Lanham, Maryland—a few minutes by automobile outside of Washington. One turns off the main highway into a lane that winds through beautiful and thickly set woods, and suddenly comes upon a green lawn with apple trees, surrounding a white colonial house, charmingly located on a sloping hillside. Here is the retreat perfect! Four magnificent tulip trees give the place its name—"Liriodendron." Other trees of numerous varieties, low-growing cedars, pines, rhododendron in abundance, much shrubbery, a lily pond and many alluring paths—to say nothing of the flower garden, combine to make this an altogether ideal place after a busy day in the city. Dr. Toole, Vivian's husband, heads a research division in the Department of Agriculture. Incidentally, he is her "boss," since she retains the position she held in his department before her marriage.

Mary Louise McDearman is now librarian at the Washington County Free Library, in Hagerstown, Maryland, having gone to this post from her work as librarian at the H. Leslie Perry Memorial Library, Henderson. Mary Louise was last year elected President of the North Carolina Library Association, but she resigned this position after accepting the new work in Maryland.

Katherine (Shenk) Mauney and two children joined her mother and father for an extended vacation last summer. They visited in Norfolk, Newport

News, Williamsburg, Richmond, Virginia; and in Elizabeth City and Manteo, North Carolina. At Manteo they saw a presentation of Paul Green's historical drama, "The Lost Colony."

Margaret (Walters) Bell visited her family in Greensboro in September.

Wilhelmina (Weiland) Rogers spent a week during the summer with her parents in Greensboro. She is living in Brooksville, Florida.

1929

Irene Boliek, Ph.D., is spending a second year at Florida State College for Women, teaching biology and zoology.

Ruth Clinard is now Executive Secretary of the Greensboro chapter of the American Red Cross. She gave up a similar position in Charlotte last summer to accept this new post. She was called to Charleston for ten days this fall to assist with the flood disaster there. During September she went to Massachusetts and Maine for a visit with friends.

Nannie Lee (Griggs) Hinson is living now in Belmont, where she is keeping house and having a wonderful time taking care of her nine-months' old son. Nannie Lee gave up teaching about two years ago.

Katharine High and Ella Burton Hutchinson, together with a friend of theirs, made a month's tour of the Southeast last summer. They travelled extensively in Florida, including Key West, and made a boat trip to Havana, Cuba.

Laura Neece is teaching French in the Biscoe High School.

Dora Ruth Parks and Evelyn Parks '32 attended the Library Institute of the University of Chicago in August. Dora resigned her position as head of circulation at the Greensboro Public Library to accept a position in Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, as branch librarian of the Southern Branch of Ousterhout Free Library.

Hattie (Rodwell) Johnson loves dogs. This little poem written by her was published in the Greensboro Daily News:

I think she understands me
more than any one I know:
Such love and adoration
no one else finds time to show.

In my lap she loves to cuddle—
sensitive to my every mood—
And she'd rather have me scratch her than to feast on choicest food.

Continued on page 19 -

PICTURE SECTION

Places and Faces, Familiar and New

Woman's College
of the University of North Carolina

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING
Erected 1891-92

IN THE Carolinian OFFICE IN ALUMNAE HOUSE
Members of the Weekly Newspaper Staff calmly consider a piece of grave news!

THE EDITORIAL BOARD OF Coraddi, STUDENT MAGAZINE
*Probably deciding upon the Table of Contents for the next number—in their office
 Alumnae House*

E. J. FORNEY

WADE R. BROWN
Former Dean of School of Music

FRANK PORTER GRAHAM
*President of the
University of North Carolina*

WALTER CLINTON JACKSON
Dean of Administration

AT WORK ON PINE NEEDLES
In the office in Alumnae House—a section of the Staff

STUDENT JUDICIAL BOARD SEATED AROUND THE HORSESHOE TABLE IN THE OFFICE OF THE STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION IN ALUMNAE HOUSE

MINNIE L. JAMISON

DR. ANNA M. GOVE

HARRIET WISEMAN ELLIOTT
Dean of Women

WILLIAM C. SMITH
Head of the Department of English

MARY M. PETTY

With her soulful eyes she questions when she does not understand.
At my smile of quick approval,
tongue and nose caress my hand.

Never sad or cross or sulky
is this little dog of mine:
And no matter how I treat her she still thinks that I am fine.

I know that I would miss her
if I had to give her up:
I've grown so fond—and love her so—this little yellow pup!

Agnes (Stewart) Niblock has recently moved her residence from Greensboro to Roanoke, Virginia.

1930

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. S. McAlister, Jr. (Betty Sloan), a son, Daniel Kenney, March 25, New York City.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Hay Watson Smith (Marion Walters) a daughter, Marion Norris, August 28, Sloane Hospital, New York City.

Martha (Broadhurst) Holderness was recently elected president of the Assembly, social dance club of Greensboro.

Emily Carr is teaching vocational home economics in the Forest City High School.

Charlesanna Fox is doing graduate work this winter in the School of Library Science, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Mary Kapp was awarded her Ph.D. degree in chemistry from the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, in August. While at Chapel Hill, she served as president of the Graduate Woman's Association.

Mabel LaBarr and her sister, Myrtle Ellen, went to Havana, Cuba, last summer as guests of the Cuban National Tourist Commission. Mabel won the trips in a radio contest conducted over WBIG, the Greensboro station. Mabel won over the other contestants by answering eighteen questions about Cuba and writing a letter on "What I Expect to See and Do in Havana."

Glenn Boyd (McLeod) Woodward was honored frequently during her visit in Greensboro in August. Glenn Boyd is now living in Gainesville, Florida, where her husband is a member of the University of Florida faculty.

Frankie Jo (Mann) Torpy has an attractive apartment in Alexandria, Virginia, and from here she commutes to Washington daily to her work as a seed specialist in the Department of Agriculture. Her husband's work is also in Washington. Both are interested in church activities. Mr. Torpy is Superintendent of the Sunday School in one of the large Washington Baptist churches. He is also president of the Association of Sunday School Superintendents in the district. They both like camping, and can tell you many a story about their trailer and exploits out in the open.

* Charlotte Van Noppen has been seriously ill this fall, and was a patient at Duke Hospital for about two weeks. Charlotte was assisting with the production of "The Lost Colony" when she became ill. She is now at her home in Greensboro and is much improved.

Eloise Rhodes was on nursing duty last summer at the Jewish Hospital, Bronx, New York. Since leaving College, she has taken a course at St. Vincent's hospital.

Congratulations to Edith (Webb) Williams on receiving her Ph.D. at Cornell University last summer. She did her work in the field of Rural Social Organization. Edith is living this winter in Hempstead, New York, where her husband is a member of the faculty of Hofstra College.

Miriam (Block) Lubin and her husband came to Greensboro in August, where they joined Miriam's parents for a two-weeks' trip to Miami Beach, Florida.

Ruth (Raby) Fulkerson broke into headlines while she was attending summer session at College this year. "Student has Live at Home Policy concerning Dresses" was the title of an article which appeared in the Greensboro Daily News. Those who read it learned that Ruth had never worn a dress, suit, or coat which was ready made! And her reason we think an excellent one—"I simply want to demonstrate that I can do the things I teach; that they are practical," she says. So she rolls her own. Ruth's twin sister, Edna (Raby) Bain also attended summer school and has a record for wearing clothes she makes herself which almost equals Ruth's own.

Madge Rhyme has a position with the Oxford Orphanage, Oxford, as teacher of home economics.

Evelyn Rives has resumed her work as teacher of French in the Elon College High School. She was a member of the college summer school faculty there this year.

1932

Mary Louise McGoogan is this year Director of Religious Education at the First Presbyterian Church, Atlanta. For three years after her graduation, she served in the same capacity at the Church of the Covenant, Greensboro. Followed a year of study at Hartford (Connecticut) Divinity School; then two years at Harrisburg, Virginia, as Director of Religious Education in the First Presbyterian Church, and as student secretary with the State Teachers College. In this new and larger field, the confidence and good wishes of her college friends and classmates follow her.

Jessie Parker enjoyed a cruise to Nassau and Havana last summer. After she came back, she went to Cleveland, Ohio, to study for several weeks under Dr. Kline, whose test is used in the State Laboratory of Hygiene, Raleigh. She spent the Fourth of July with Ruth Cobb, who with six other girls had a cottage on the lake for the summer. Jessie is technician in the N. C. State Laboratory of Hygiene.

Evelyn Parks is again in Albemarle, where she is head of the Stanly County Library, and the new chairman of the Woman's College Alumnae Association.

Pauline Peace is now Mrs. Andrew E. Douglas. She lives at Parkersburg, West Virginia.

A. V. (Poe) Williams is back again in Champaign, Illinois, as Director of Religious Education with the First Congregational Church, doing work directly with the students in the University of Illinois, through the Pilgrim Foundation. A. V.'s husband is continuing his work in architecture in the University.

Emmie Rountree went on a cruise to Havana last summer. She lives in Richmond.

1933

Dorothy (Blackwood) Copple lives in Woodside, Long Island. She says she is "homemaking."

Frances Brame is teaching French and English this winter in the Wendell High School.

Elizabeth Cody is teaching commercial subjects in the Greenwood, South Carolina, high school, and is also secretary to the high school division of the Greenwood County Teachers Association.

Fay Dellinger is stepping up in her work. This year she is trust teller and secretary for the Equitable Trust Company, Wilmington, Delaware. She also finds time to do additional work for the secretary of the New Castle County Medical Society.

Lottie Hood is this year librarian at Winyah High School, Georgetown, South Carolina. She writes that she is delighted with their splendid new library, and especially happy over the placing of a large order for new books.

Catherine McIver assumed her duties in the cataloging division of the National Archives, Washington, D. C., on August 15. For three years previous, she had been assistant librarian at Georgia State College for Women, Milledgeville.

Mary Bailey Williams came to visit her parents, Rev. R. Murphy Williams and Mrs. Williams (Lillie Boney '98) early in August. They, together with Bobby Williams, motored North where they visited another of Mary Bailey's brothers. She continues her work at Druid Hills Presbyterian Church, Atlanta, Georgia.

Ruth Wolcott cruised in Southern waters during vacation—around Cuba. She saw a number of other alumnae on the same trip, among them Frances Fowler '33 and Margaret Abbitt '35.

1934

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Clement H. Donovan (Elizabeth Whitbeck), a son, Michael Whitbeck, October 6, Sternberger Hospital, Greensboro. The Donovans are living at Chapel Hill this winter.

Mary Gilbert is teaching a sixth grade this year in the Bonlee school, Siler City. She is also active in the Woman's Club, and teaches a Sunday school class on Sunday.

Margaret Kernodle and her mother, Mrs. J. F. Kernodle, visited Frances Kernodle '35 in New York City during July.

Bernice Love is again teaching in the High Point High School. The past summer she completed her work for her Master's degree at Columbia University.

About two years ago, Pearl Quakenbush married a forester, Mr. W. J. Barker. They follow the forest belt, having already lived in several Southern states. Their last address was Arkadelphia, Arkansas.

Claudia Moore is this year instructor of dance and physical education at Florida State College for Women. She went to her new post after spending four successful years at the University of Nebraska. Claudia had six weeks, hard but glorious, last summer at the Bennington Summer School of the Dance, where she was a member of Doris Humphrey's Concert Workshop group.

Priscilla Mullen is staying at home this winter in Roanoke Rapids, taking care of the house, and carrying on in the best possible way, since the death of her mother in September.

1935

Maxine Allen is spending a second year as Health Education Secretary for the Y. W. C. A., Charlotte.

Pauline Beasley is now Mrs. Irwin H. Davis. She was married last April in Emporia, Virginia, and lives near Fremont. She taught there three years, but is homemaking this winter. Pauline's sister, Carrie Lee, is a sophomore at College this year.

Frances Belvin has an interesting position as laboratory and X-ray technician, Shackelford Hospital, Martinsville, Virginia.

Louise E. Brown is laboratory technician at the Guilford General Hospital, High Point.

Genevieve Corbett is this year studying at Wellesley College on a graduate fellowship in chemistry. For the past three years, Genevieve has been an assistant in the Department of Chemistry, Hood College.

Helen Dugan is this year teaching history in the Greenville High School, and supervising students in practice teaching for E. C. T. C. Until this year, Helen taught history in the Kannapolis high school every year since graduation.

Pauline Hambright has recently accepted a position as assistant to the State WPA Nursery School Adviser, Raleigh.

Margaret Hamlin recently visited her former Woman's College roommate—Margaret (Hallman) Rudisill, who lives at Lincolnton. Mrs. Rudisill has a son, Tommy, three, and a daughter, three months.

Mebane (Holoman) Burgwyn lives on a big plantation at Jackson, Northampton County. She has a charming two-year old son, who asks questions so very "wise" that even an alumna-mother is quite frankly put "on the spot." Mebane was a guest on the campus during the Founder's Day season.

Jane Hopkins is assistant executive secretary for the American Red Cross, Winston-Salem.

Mildred Hutchinson belongs to the colony of Woman's College alumnae

SUSANNE KETCHUM '35

Student for the past two years, School of Fine Arts, Yale University who are teaching in the Kannapolis schools—high school Math and English.

Frances Kernodle came by plane to visit her parents in Greensboro the latter part of August en route to her new post as dietitian at the University of Texas. The first of August, Frances completed the work for her Master's degree in dietetics at Columbia University.

Susanne Ketchum was called to Greensboro early in July because of the serious illness of her mother, and is spending the winter at home.

Louise (Nimocks) Williamson is now living in Dover, Delaware.

Ellen Sherwood is health education assistant in the Y. W. C. A., Scranton, Pennsylvania.

Alice Thomas continues her work as a graduate student in the School of Hygiene and Public Health, Johns Hopkins University.

Christine Weeks continues her work as dietitian at Wesley Long Hospital, Greensboro.

Louise White is teaching piano at Fairmont.

Kate Wilkins returned to Greensboro early in September after a trip abroad. She sailed on the Bremen on July 3 with a member of the faculty at Woman's Medical College in Philadelphia. They travelled in England

HEATH LONG '35

President of the Raleigh Little Theatre and Scotland, and motored through Cornwall and Devon.

Anna Wills is back in Gastonia as teacher of English in the high school.

Dorothy Yarbrough was granted an MA degree from Boston University last winter. This year she is teaching at Newton Center, Ramson Road, Massachusetts.

1936

Born to Rev. and Mrs. W. Kenneth Goodson (Martha Ogburn), a daughter, Sara Ann, October 19, Wesley Long Hospital, Greensboro.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph LeConte (Elizabeth McRimmon Hedepeth), a daughter, Elizabeth Neill, May 28.

Carmen Austin teaches the fifth grade in the Gastonia school system.

Mildred Bullock is teaching English and French in the Norlina high school. and is faculty sponsor for one of the student literary clubs.

June Darden is teaching a fifth grade in the Burlington schools.

Frances Foust received her MA degree at Chapel Hill last June. This winter she is doing research work in the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Elizabeth Harvell is again manager of the cafeteria of the Greensboro Central Junior High School.

Lucille Highsmith is teaching in a nursery school, Raleigh.

Louise George is teaching public

MONTALDO'S

Adorable ...

Russian Hare

Bolero

The fluffiest, whitest, and most adorable of all the little white angora boleros. most youthful and most flattering of the season's little wraps. Made from the tummy-skins of Russian hares, soft and silky to touch.

12 to 18. 25.00

school music in one of the city schools, Columbia, South Carolina.

Winifred Kernodle is doing a large order in home economics in the Kipling schools—teaching the subject in grades 8, 9, 10, and 11.

Margaret Knight is Business and Industrial Girls Secretary at the Y. W. C. A., Roanoke, Virginia.

Edythe (Latham) Senz came from New York for a visit with her family in Greensboro the early part of September.

Julia Rice is dietitian at the Pine-bluff, North Carolina, Sanatorium. She has been there for more than a year, and had her first vacation the latter half of September. She spent it in Charleston, West Virginia. Incidentally, she is enjoying a new automobile.

1937

Josephine and Julia Butler are spending another year in Paris, together with their mother. Their address is 8 Rue Duguay-Frouin, Paris (6) France. Their letters about the war scare and preparations were very interesting.

Grace Carmichael is teaching public school music in the Graham schools.

Trannie Yates Coburn, who last year studied at Boston Conservatory, is now a member of the faculty there. She is an instructor in piano.

Elizabeth Gant spent last summer in New Mexico and Oklahoma. She is back again at Woman's College, as

HOME OF SOCIETY PINS

207 South Elm Phone 2-0044

ALWAYS FIRST

In Showing the Newest

Betty Lou Shop

126 South Elm Street

E. A. WOODELL

Service Printer

Successor to "Kendall"

221 East Sycamore St. Greensboro, N. C.

PHIL R. CARLTON, Inc.

Real Estate - Rents - Bonding

INSURANCE

Carlton Building, Opposite Courthouse
Dial 8157For the best follow the college girls to their favorite spot

THE GRILL

407 Tate St. Phones 7306-9465

DRAGON SHOPS

offer

*"Fashion Checked"*Millinery, Hose, Sweaters, and Accessories at budget prices.

Valuable merchandise given free each week.

ASK ABOUT IT

123 West Market St.

secretary in the office of the Dean of the School of Music.

Katherine Lee Gilbert is teaching this year at the Lee H. Edwards High School, Asheville.

Elizabeth Hanks spent a part of last winter in Washington City working for the government. A few months ago, she returned to New Bern to become an assistant secretary to United States Congressman Graham A. Barden. She is enjoying her regular work, and in addition the various clubs which she has joined since returning to North Carolina.

Alethea Hough is again teaching in the Gastonia High School.

Linda (Mitchell) Lamm has recently moved into a new home in Wilson.

Cynthia Anne Pipkin is doing secretarial work in Greensboro.

Marie Roberts is laboratory technician for the Alamance General Hospital, Burlington. She attended summer session at the University of Minnesota last summer, taking courses in chemistry and bacteriology. Coming back, she visited Lorena Strohm in Annapolis, and her sister, Pauline '25, in New York City.

Dorothy Silverman is this year studying library science at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Kate Urquhart is spending this winter at her home, Woodville. At the annual convention of the Young Democratic Clubs of North Carolina, held in Durham on October 10, she was elected vice president of that organization. The Y. D. C., so Kate writes, has been designated "The Official Youth Organization of the Democratic Party." "I am chiefly engaged now in participating in the great game of politics."

Martha Wiswall spent last year studying at Columbia University, from which she received her MA degree in history. This year she is teaching French and Art in Murphy, her home town.

1938

Jean Abbitt is teaching commercial subjects in the Kinston High School.

Gertrude Applebaum is at her home in Long Island, New York, this winter. She spent the summer at Lake Bryn Mawr Camp for Girls, Honesdale, Pennsylvania, as athletic counselor.

Mary Cot Archibald, seventh grade, Ellerbe.

Georgia Arnett, doing graduate study in English, University of Louisiana, Baton Rouge.

Gladys Arney, first grade, Mineral Springs School, Winston-Salem.

Ruth Avery, working in the county farm agent's office, Smithfield. She spent part of her summer vacation at Atlantic City, and in Washington, D. C.

Elizabeth Aycock, Home Economics, Biology, General Science, in high school, Magnolia.

Katherine Aycock, English in high school, Wilson's Mills.

Ruth Ayers, working in a department store, Winston-Salem.

Pauline Baise, secretarial work in State Division of Purchase and Contract, Raleigh.

Hazel E. Barnes, working in the Merchants and Farmers Bank, Taylorsville.

Frances Barrett, public school music and glee clubs, Zebulon.

Latane (Bartlett) Lambert spent several weeks in and around Greensboro during September. Mrs. Lambert is making her home in San Antonio, Texas, and was visiting her parents and friends in Greensboro.

Laura Bateman is doing graduate work in Religious Education at the Baptist Woman's Missionary Union Training School, Louisville. She will be remembered as the senior speaker at the General Alumnae Assembly last commencement. At that time she said:

"We the members of the Class of 1938 feel so much in common with you who are Alumnae of longer standing. We like to believe that you loved many of the same things of our college that mean so much to us today.

"Those early Titans to whom we do honor each October left a heritage to the Woman's College. It is a heritage of courage, of struggle, of renewed efforts in the face of difficulty. And it is a heritage which belongs to the Class of 1900 no less than to the Class of 1938.

"But changes have taken place at the Woman's College since 1900 just as changes have taken place in America since 1900. Some writer has said that there is nothing permanent but change. Attitudes of American young people have been revolutionized if we are to believe surveys of popular magazines. Though much that we read exaggerates the differences in generations, our college has recognized the need of adapting methods and procedures to a changed student body.

"No longer does the college woman expect to have her decisions made for her. She expects to function as a responsible member of a normal community. So she goes to chapel just once a week if she does not choose to go more often. If her schedule permits she spends more than one afternoon a week at the movies. She realizes that she alone must answer for her decisions, and she makes them unusually wise, we think.

"She has few restrictions on her social and personal affairs. Wise administrators have impressed upon her their belief that she wants at heart to do the right thing.

"Academically, the college woman has much leeway. Electives are more plentiful, much choice is allowed. The cut 'Your philosophy of life, too, must be your own. Go to church if you see the need and if you choose'. Surprisingly often she chooses to go.

"To you who have so nobly borne the torch lighted by those early Titans, we pledge our cooperation as we come into the membership of this our Alumnae Association. With you, we like to say 'OUR COLLEGE'. We like to hope and plan with you a fitting future for our college."

Edith G. Beard, home economics in high school, Landis. Edith spent the summer in Boston, Massachusetts, visiting her sister.

Mary Fuller Beasley moved with her family to Baltimore the first of September, and is spending the winter there.

Helen Bell, secretarial work at the Lawrence Hospital, Mooresville. This summer she had a wonderful trip to Montreal, Quebec, Nova Scotia, and down through the New England states.

Willow Way Benbow, fifth grade, Woughtown School, Winston-Salem. Ruth Benton, first grade, Newell.

Mary Boney, seventh grade, Fort Bragg.

Nina Park Booker, second grade, Lindley Elementary School, Greensboro. Mr. and Mrs. Booker and their two children, Laurena 10 and Norman 8, motored through the Great Smoky Mountains National Park and the Tennessee Valley on their vacation last summer.

Louise Bowles, sixth grade, Cannon High School, Kannapolis. She says she likes her work very much, and is rooming this year with a former Woman's College roommate, Thelma Kilian '37. Louise spent the summer at her home near Winston-Salem.

Ida Louise Brock, commercial subjects, in her home town high school, Elizabeth City.

Calena and Margaret Brothers, at home in Rocky Mount.

Marjorie Burgess, third grade, Belmont.

Thelma Bryan, third and fourth grades, Roseboro. Thelma's classmates will be very sorry to hear that her mother is very ill.

Betty Calder, secretarial work, Interstate Commission on Delaware River Basin, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Betty spent the summer at Ocean City, N. J., "waiting on tables and having a fine time on beach and boardwalk, until I accepted my present position on September 1."

Bernice Calahan, secretary to the president of Citizens Manufacturing Company, Rutherfordton, N. C.

Helen Camden, commercial subjects, Abingdon, Virginia.

Jacqueline Cameron, home economics, Red Oak High School.

Margaret Cann, working in accounting department of Burlington Mills, Greensboro.

Edith Cardwell, commercial subjects in high school, Union Grove.

Facial Treatment — Primrose House Cosmetics

Scalp Treatment — Parker
Herbex System

Lady Fair Shop, Inc.

114 Jefferson Building

Christy Natural Wave Cut

All Types Permanent Waving, including Carter's Prescription Wave

Manicuring Hair Cutting

Telephone 5635

Greensboro, N. C.

SEBURN'S, INC.

Registered Jewelers No. 201

116 North Elm Street

GREENSBORO, N. C.

Dial 8193 and let

The Columbia Laundry
do it.

Launderers and Dry Cleaners

Battleground Ave. at Cedar St.

MIRIAM SLOAN '38

Artist with the Extension Division, State College, Raleigh system permits a reasonable number of unexcused absences for the well-qualified student. Student leaders have this year advocated the exemption of the superior senior from final examinations. Yes, academically the college woman is coming to call her soul her own.

"In civic affairs the college woman is becoming more alert to the world outside and more sensitive to her own community. She is becoming acquainted with the needs and conditions in a world that cannot see its way clear in economic affairs—a world that wavers between peace and war. She applies governmental principles to college student government. When an offence is committed, the offender is judged by her peers. Just this year an amendment provided for increased participation by creating Hall Boards.

"Religiously, the college and Faiths have engaged experts, have brought eminent religious thinkers to the campus, and have encouraged students to think in terms of their personal needs. Then they say, to this supposedly mature individual,

We appreciate your patronage, really

Union Bus Station

Phone 6151

KING COTTON HOTEL

GREENSBORO, N. C.

250 ROOMS

250 BATHS

Haywood Duke, Manager

Books for every taste
Greeting cards for every occasion
Social stationery - plain & printed

THE BOOK SHOP

123 South Greene Street

Oscar Burnett & Company

Investment Securities

Security Bank Bldg.—Phone 8179

GREENSBORO, N. C.

Edith commenced her work on the 15th of August, after spending the first part of the summer at home. She writes: "Please place my name on the Alumnae Association roll as a paid-up member."

Katherine Causey, free-lance writing, Greensboro. She is looking for a job on a newspaper.

Hester Chrisman, Latin, French, English, and United States History, in high school, Ivanhoe, Virginia. This Virginia village is situated in the southeastern part of the state, not far from Wytheville.

Gertrude Clark, student in the Sacred School of Music, Union Theological Seminary, New York City. She is living at McGiffert Hall, 99 Claremont Avenue. During the summer Gertrude was organist for one month at St. Mary's Episcopal Church and for two months at the First Baptist Church, both in High Point.

Elizabeth Clay, science and French in high school, Tar Heel. She spent most of the summer at home and visited friends and relatives. One week end found her at Manteo where she saw Paul Green's pageant, "The Lost Colony."

Revie Klein is staying at home in Greensboro this winter. She is a BSSA, and would like to do secretarial work.

Sarah Click, graduate study in dramatics, Yale University.

Sheila Corley, working toward her Master's degree in French at Louisiana State University. Sheila was appointed an assistant in the English Department in the College de Jeunes Filles, Angoulême, France, for this year, but just before time to sail, received a postponement of her appointment to the school term of 1939-40.

Alta Mae Craver, commercial subjects in high school, Liberty. She has a class of adults which she instructs in commercial subjects for two hours after her regular school work closes.

Frances Crean, at home, New Britain, Conn. During the summer, Fran was counselor at T-Ledge Camp, Onns Island, Maine.

Faye Cresson, sixth grade, Goldston. Anne Crosland, social worker, Marlboro County, South Carolina, with headquarters in Bennettsville.

Elizabeth Cummings, commercial subjects in high school, Shelby.

Frances Cuthbertson, French and English in high school, Harmony. During the summer Frances was associated with Mr. L. L. Morgan, doing Baptist Sunday School field work throughout the state.

Barbara Cuthrell, advanced study in music, Woman's College. She spent the entire summer at her family's cottage, the "Chatterbox," in the Blue Ridge mountains of North Carolina.

Lewis Davies, attending Pratt Library School, New York City. She took a business course this summer and worked in a library in Columbia, S. C., for experience. Lewis hopes to get a job in the South after she completes her course at Pratt.

Catherine Davies, mathematics in high school, Belmont.

Elizabeth Davis, vocational home economics in high school, Black Creek.

Elizabeth Dotger, second grade, McIver School, Greensboro.

Edna Douglas, graduate work in economics, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Reba Eagle, fifth grade, Landis.

Ruth Elliott, second grade, Penderlea School, Willard.

Jane Ellis, third grade, Fayetteville. Incidentally, Jane includes a check for $2.00 for membership fee in the Alumnae Association with this information about her new job. You're an alumna after our own heart, Jane!

Lennis Farmer, second grade, Woodleaf.

Madeline Farthing, mathematics in high school, Gibson.

Doris Fondren, first grade, Mount Pleasant.

Mary Fultz, dramatic coach in various parts of the state of Kentucky.

Dorothy Gaskins, director of music in junior high school, Asheville, and private music instructor. Dorothy says the junior high school band numbers twenty-eight. She adds, "I would like very much to join the Alumnae Association."

Edna Gathings, sixth grade, W. R. Odell School, Concord.

Helen Gibson entered a computer school in Atlanta, Georgia, in October.

Etheleen Goodnight, third grade, Morven. She spent the summer at home, Mount Ulla, and in the mountains of North Carolina.

Miriam Goodrum, second grade, Kannapolis. She rooms in the same house with four other Woman's College alumnae. Miriam spent the summer visiting college friends.

Jean Graham, piano, violin, and public school music in the high school, Graham.

Caroline Hagey, History and French in high school, East Stone, Virginia.

Alma Hall, social worker, Charlotte. Alma says, "Tell everybody hello for me. I miss college, but couldn't have chosen a finer town than this to live and work in."

Helen Hall, second grade, Gastonia.

Virginia Hall is laboratory technician in Augusta, Georgia.

Louise Harris, stenographic work, E.C.T.C., Greenville. During the summer, she had a delightful trip to New York and Boston, incidentally stopping at some of the more important colleges and universities en route.

Virginia Harris, taking business course at E.C.T.C. She is living at home in Farmville and commuting to school. During the summer Virginia travelled in New York state and in New England.

Harriet Heath is X-ray technician for Dr. Joseph Shohan at the Piedmont Memorial Hospital, Greensboro. Harriet was lucky enough to have a week's vacation, since she started work a week after graduation, and spent the time visiting Elizabeth Eubank, Scott's Hill.

Marie Hedgepeth, secretarial work for Dr. R. E. Perry, Greensboro.

Abbie Fay Henry, laboratory technician, Cherokee County Hospital, Gaffney, South Carolina. During the summer, she served as a technician interne in the same hospital.

Ruth Hill is doing library work in New York City.

Conrade Hobbs, third grade, Pen-dlerlea School, Willard.

Iris Howell, secretarial work, Circle Chair Company, Troy. She began her work there around the first of August and likes it very much.

Rachel Howell, commercial subjects in high school, Dobson.

Marie Hudnell, commercial subjects in high school, Royal. She works in an office on Saturdays.

Ruth Ivey is serving her laboratory technician internship in Charlotte, and is taking one course in chemistry and one in physics at Queens College.

Edith Jackson, English and French, high school, Leggett.

Evelyn Jackson, sixth grade, Sun-bury.

Lillian Jackson is studying art in the Grand Central School, New York City, having commercial advertising in mind. She is living with Virginia Jackson and Bettie Hunt, both '38s. They all saw Ruth Whalin (now Mrs. Little), Helen Pease and Pinky Gamble at the Carolina-New York University football game in October.

Virginia Jackson, studying interior design at the New York School of Fine and Applied Arts. Virginia was one of those fortunate enough to attend the first Art Colony at Beaufort this summer.

Camilla Johnson, lab technician, Pinehurst.

Elizabeth Johnson, History and English in high school, Miller's Creek.

Clarice Jones, English in high school, Hallsboro.

Marion K. Jordan, fourth grade, Gastonia.

Frances Judd, student dietitian, Florida State College for Women, Tallahassee.

Evelyn Kernodle is now Mrs. C. A. Pratt, Greensboro.

Helen Kleemeier, taking a stenographic course during the morning, and apprenticing in Girl Scout Organization through the Greensboro office in the afternoon.

Mildred Knox, sixth grade, A. T. Allen School, Concord.

Alice Lee Lambeth, fourth grade, Carthage.

Kathleen Lauder, commercial subjects in the tenth and eleventh grades, Mineral Springs. She spent her summer visiting in Charlotte, Atlanta, Georgia, and Eastern North Carolina.

Helen Lewis, staying at home, Marshallberg.

Elizabeth Liles, French in high school, Fayetteville.

Elizabeth Link, home economics in high school, Granite Falls.

In building, a good architect will pay — in satisfaction and savings.

Odell Hardware Company

"The Carolinas' Greatest Hardware and Sporting Goods House"

GREENSBORO, N. C.

The College Girl's Favorite Store for

QUALITY CLOTHES

Ellis Stone & Co

FRANKLIN STUDIO

Superb

PHOTOGRAPHY

PORTRAITS

COPY WORK

MINIATURES

Phone 5313

123 S Elm St.

Greensboro, N. C.

Over Roscoe-Griffin Shoe Co.

Martha Loftin, third grade, Union Hill School, High Point.

Hortense Long, commercial subjects in the Stoneville and Mayodan high schools.

Lois Lowder, secretarial work in Winston-Salem. Lois says she spent a good part of the summer travelling around up North. Her work began on August 19.

Nancy F. McCall, dietitian interne,

Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Myrtie McCaskill, commercial subjects, Tabor City high school.

Bessie Mae McFadden, Math and Physics, Allen Jay High School, near High Point. The principal of the school taught Bessie Mae when she was in high school, and she is now living with him and his wife. She has 57 in her eighth grade! Bessie Mae was on the campus for a visit the latter part of September.

Montien McKaughan, home economics in high school, Winston-Salem.

Maureen Moore is teaching in the Music Department of the Greensboro High School. She has charge of string and woodwind instruments. Maureen has lived in Greensboro most of her life, and in addition to her formal schooling has been a member of the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra.

Irene Rich Murphy and her husband celebrated their second wedding anniversary on July 25 with an informal buffet supper at their home in Greensboro.

Miriam Sloan has an excellent position this winter in the extension division of State College, Raleigh, where she is in charge of all advertising in the pamphlets and for printed folders and materials which go out from the division. Miriam completed her work at this college at the close of the first semester in 1938. She went immediately to Columbia University, where she remained in residence until the close of the Summer Session there working toward her MA degree in Art.

Frances Womble, doing graduate work in dietetics at Michael Rees Hospital, Chicago.

NECROLOGY

IN MEMORIAM

1904

Eugenia (Harris) Holt, whose husband, Colonel Earl P. Holt, is president of Oak Ridge Military Institute, died September 7 at a sanatorium in Charlotte, where she had been a patient for several weeks. For a number of years, Eugenia Harris was a member of the Woman's College faculty, in the Department of Music. She was permanent secretary of her class, and was devoted to the College, to her class, and a loyal and enthusiastic member of the Alumnae Association. In her community relationships, she was untiring in her efforts to further every worthwhile enterprise. She was active in the work of the church, taught a Sunday School class of young women, served as church pianist, and was a leading member of the Ladies Aid Society. She was also active in the Woman's Club, the Guilford County Chapter of the American Red Cross, the Guilford Battle Chapter of the D.A.R., and for several years served as chairman of the Oak Ridge Christmas Seal Committee. She is survived by her husband

Makes you Glad
YOU'RE THIRSTY

12 OUNCES

5¢

Royal in Name RC COLA Royal in Quality

BOTTLED BY

GREENSBORO NEHI BOTTLING CO.

"BEVERAGE HEADQUARTERS"

823 Battleground Ave.

Phone 9824

and two sons, whose loss the alumnae of Woman's College deeply share.

1915

Roselle (Ditmore) McIntosh, who died May 11, in Raleigh, following an illness of several months. Her daughter, Mary Elizabeth, is a student at Woman's College this year.

Com. 36

Jane York, who died July 26 at Guilford Sanatorium, Jamestown.

1937

Dora Shapiro, who died last January 8, at her home in Salem, New Jersey, following a brief illness.

We Extend Deepest Sympathy:

To Elizabeth (LeGwin) Applewhite '07 and Emmie B. LeGwin Com. '11 in the death of their mother in October.

To Katherine (Wilson) White '19 and her sister, Ruth (Wilson) Elkins '26, in the death of their mother, June 26, following a long illness.

To Jennie Mann (Clark) Zollicoffer '21 in the death of her husband, Allen C. Zollicoffer, August 29, in an Asheville hospital, following an operation. Mr. Zollicoffer was a prominent Halifax County lawyer. There is one daughter.

To Julia (Ross) Lambert '24 Asheville, in the death of her husband last summer. There is one daughter.

To Nellie (Irvin) Scheffer '26 in the death of her mother in Greensboro on September 21.

To Priscilla Mullen '34 in the death of her mother, September 24, Roanoke Rapids.

MARRIED

Fannie Starr Mitchell '14 to Elmo M. Sellars, July 16, First Presbyterian Church, Wilmington. For several years previous to her marriage, the bride was the well-loved dean of girls in the Greensboro High School. Mr. Sellars is a department manager of Cone Export & Commission Company. At home Greensboro.

Sarah Gwynn '16 to Raymond Clinard Divinny, July 15, at the home of the bride's parents, Leaksville. The bride has done graduate study at the universities of North Carolina and Chicago and is a successful teacher in the Leaksville High School. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Northwestern University, and is now with the Leaksville News. At home Leaksville.

Clyde Wright '21 to Major R. C. Weaver, of the Virginia Military Institute, Lexington, Virginia, 7th of June. Among those who extended pre-nuptial courtesies to the bride were Mrs. Frank P. Graham, Pattie (Spurgeon) Warren '13, and Lettie Glass, all of Chapel Hill.

Elizabeth Duffy '25 to John Elbert Bridgers, Jr., August 27, New York City. The bride is spending her second year as professor of Psychology at the Woman's College. At the beginning of this current year, the bridegroom became a member of the Woman's College faculty in the Department of English. After their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Bridgers went to Bermuda for two weeks.

Lisbeth Parrott '25 to Henry Berryman Sanders, August 27, Kinston. Among the interesting positions held by the bride since her graduation have been those of publicity director for the North Carolina Board of Charities and Public Welfare, and for sometime previous to her marriage, editorial assistant on the publicity staff of Community Chests and Councils, Inc., the national Community Chest headquarters. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Louisville, a member of Kappa Alpha, and is now district manager of the Casein Company of America, with headquarters in Chicago.

Rebecca Elizabeth Lindley '28 to Guy Atlee Gibbons, July 25, at the home of the bride's parents, Guilford College. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Duke University, and at present is connected in business with the Standard Oil Company, Portsmouth, Ohio. At home there.

Nina Elizabeth McDavid '28 to Carl Alfred Yost, July 9, Grace Methodist Church, New York City. The bridegroom is a talented musician and opera singer. He has been the leading tenor with the Hippodrome Opera Company, New York, the Old Manhattan Opera Company, South America, and more recently with the Pittsburgh and Metropolitan Grand Opera Companies. Mr. Yost also teaches voice production and coaches operatic aspirants. At home New York City.

Hazel Nell Bullock '29 to Thomas Onis Perry, June 25, at the home of the bride, Durham. The bridegroom, a graduate of State College, Raleigh, is a tobacco-connist.

Elizabeth Isenhour '29 to James Thomas Kindley, July 21, at the home of the bride's parents, Salisbury. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Christ's School and is now in business in Salisbury. At home there.

Verdy Catherine Jackson '29 to William Franklin Howland, Jr., September 19, New York City. The bridegroom is a graduate of Duke University, and also of the law school of that university. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Tau Kappa Alpha, 9019, Sigma Nu Phi, and is connected with the United States Department of Justice. At home Raleigh.

Luna Lewis '29 to John Wesley Lambert, September 7, Methodist Episcopal Church, Four Oaks, Carlotta (Barnes) Jacoby '26 assisted with the wedding music. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Campbell College and Wake Forest, and also studied at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville. This winter he is instructor in history in the Kinston high school and pastor of the Baptist Church in LaGrange.

Mary Randolph '29 to James S. Edgar, August 20. Mr. Edgar holds a position in Winston-Salem, where they will be at home.

Mable Topping '29 to Samuel Franklin Freeman, during the past summer.

Lorita Woodruff '29 to John Nelson Still, Jr., August 14, at the home of the bride's parents, Mount Airy. Verdy Jackson '29 was maid of honor. The bridegroom is connected with the Pure Oil Company, Winston-Salem. At home there.

We invite you to our new store

FEATURING COLLEGE
SPORTSWEAR

DRESSES COATS

FIELDS

102 South Elm

THE LOVELIEST SHOES in town POLLOCK'S

102 South Elm Street

SHAG?

And we mean real shag as in our tweed coats at MANGEL'S. They've got what it takes and they cost only a mere $14.98. Your Winter is all set in one of these. They break campus winds for early and late classes. They're just the thing for a precious evening with the "real" one.

MANGEL'S

216 South Elm Street

Panthea Boyd '30 to William Edmund Bowman, June 25, Belvidere, ancestral home of the bride, near Townsville. The bridegroom is engaged in agricultural pursuits, and is actively connected with civic affairs. At home Colfax.

Gladys Hicks '31 to William E. Robertson, June 2, Rockingham Methodist Church. At home Asheville.

Elizabeth Brittle '32 to Fred Blount, July 24, Front Street Methodist Church, Burlington. Dorothy Brittle '30 was her sister's maid of honor. The bridegroom is a graduate of State College, Raleigh, and at present teaches in the Franklinton High School. At home Franklinton.

Mary Elizabeth Cowan '32 to Charles Edward Fisher, August 27, Asheville. At home Asheville.

Edna Hackney '30 to Lacy Henry Ballard, August 28, Duke Chapel, Durham. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Duke University and State College, Raleigh. He is now teaching in the Walkertown High School. At home there.

Ella McPhail '30 to William McMillan Denny, August 2, Red Springs. The bridegroom is connected in business with the Consolidated Gas Company, New York City. At home there.

Sarah Smith '30 to Frederick Wright Lennon, First Methodist Church, Salisbury. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Davidson and of the University of North Carolina, and is now engaged in the clothing business in Lumberton. At home there.

Nell Forrest '31 to Joseph Paisley Hughes, August 13, in a garden ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Efland. Myra (Webb) Bradley '28, Doris Lee '29, Louise (Cloninger) Cummings '30 and Margaret (Freeland) Taylor '32 were among the wedding attendants. The bridegroom is a graduate of State College, Raleigh, and is superintendent of Eno Cotton Mills, Hillsboro. At home there.

Sally Lorene Meares '31 to Edward Hiram Gibson III, August 27, at the home of the bride's parents, Fair Bluff. The bridegroom is an alumnus of the University of North Carolina, with both a bachelor's and master's degree. He later studied drawing and painting at the Art Student League of New York. He is now a member of the faculty of the High Point Senior High School. At home there.

Virginia Elizabeth Carter '32 to James Lawson Chandler, August 31, Methodist Church, Ruffin. Mary L. (Stacy) Worsham '24 was pianist. Pauline (Truslow) Lauder '32 was one of the two matrons of honor. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Duke University, and of State College, Raleigh. He is connected with the Piedmont Warehouse, Danville, Virginia. At home Ruffin.

Jane H. McIver '32 to John H. Kennedy, June 22, at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Sanford. The bridegroom is an alumnus of the University of North Carolina and is now in business, Sanford. At home there.

Olga Foster Frisard '33 to Clarence Howard Crabtree, August 26, at the home of the bride, Morganton. The bridegroom is an alumnus of the University of North Carolina and is connected with the North Carolina State Department of Revenue.

Louise Hayes '33 to Dennis Rose, July 16, Alamance Presbyterian Church, near Greensboro. The bridegroom is a graduate of State College, Raleigh, and is a member of Delta Sigma Pi fraternity. He is now engaged in the mercantile business in Littleton. At home there.

Mary Katherine Turner '33 to William Lawrence Jones, August 12, Presbyterian Church of the Covenant, Greensboro. The bridegroom is connected with the Justice Drug Company. At home Greensboro.

Margaret Fleming Wilder '33 to Jonah Collins Taylor, October 1, Louisburg Baptist Church, Louisburg. Harmon (Taylor) Cavanaugh '33 was one of the bridesmaids. The bridegroom is a graduate of Wake Forest and is a member of Alpha Phi Omega fraternity. He is now connected with the American Mutual Liability Company, with headquarters in Greensboro.

Mary Dudley '34 to James W. Culbertson, July 19, Presbyterian Church, Chapel Hill. Bet (Nelson) Overton '35 was matron of honor. The bridegroom is a graduate of Furman University, where he was a member of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity. He received his M.A. degree from the University of North Carolina, and at present is instructor in the University of Virginia School of Medicine.

Clara Poteat '34 to Fred Alexander Knight, September 30, Kershaw, South Carolina. The bridegroom is a graduate of Clemson College, and is connected with Armour & Company, Charleston. At home there.

Schiffman's

LEADING JEWELERS SINCE 1893

GREENSBORO, N. C.

A GOOD NAME

THE BEST IN QUALITY

PRICES TO SUIT EVERY PURSE

THE SOUTH'S FINEST JEWELRY AND GIFT STORE

Mary Redfern '34 to Loraine Bledsoe Singleton, July 23, First Presbyterian Church, Raleigh. The bridegroom is an alumnus of the University of North Carolina and has done graduate work at Columbia University. At present he is educational advisor in the C.C.C. At home, Madison.

Jean Skaden '34 to William Robert Beall, August 6, Rockville, Maryland. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Maryland and is coach in the Rockville high school. At home Washington, D. C.

Pauline Beasley '35 to Irwin H. Davis, April 17, Emporia, Virginia. The bride taught for three years, and this year is devoting her time to homemaking. At home Fremont.

Mary Cornelia Calvert '35 to Charles Elbridge Graham, July 27, Beallmont, ancestral home of the bride's mother, near Lexington. The bridegroom is an alumnus of State College, Raleigh. At home "Beallmont."

Robbie Dunn '35 to Dr. Grady Cornell Siske, August 22, High Point. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and received his medical degree from the Chicago School of Medicine. He is now practicing medicine at Pleasant Garden. At home there.

Julia Belle Foy '35 to Walter D. Moss, August 6, Central Methodist Church, Mount Airy. Frances Folger '35 played the nuptial music. The bridegroom is a graduate of Clemson College, Clemson, S. C., and has done graduate work at Rutgers College. He is now a chemist at Wilkes Hosiery Mill. At home North Wilkesboro.

Helen Howard '35 to L. M. Parker, Jr., June 18, Dillon, South Carolina. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and is now associated with his father in the cotton business, Raleigh. At home there.

Bess Idol '35 to Charles Samuel Coble, August 6, Central Friends Church, High Point. The bridegroom is a graduate of Guilford College, and is now Great Lakes district sales manager in the package division of the A. E. Staley Manufacturing Company. At home Detroit, Michigan.

Edna Earle Lee '35 to John Perry Jones, July 1, Divine Street Methodist Church, Dunn. Louise Horner '34 was one of the bridesmaids. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Elon College and is now secretary of the Leaksville Merchants' Association. At home Leaksville.

Marion Bradford McDowell '35 to Octave Schnurer, August 15, at the home of the bride's sister, Joscelyn (McDowell) Williams '22, Morganton. The bridegroom is an engineer in the main office of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, Pittsburgh. It was a pleasure to welcome this bride and groom in the Alumnae House as they passed through Greensboro on their wedding journey. At home Pittsburgh.

Louise Nimocks '35 to Edwin Holt Williamson, during July, in Fayetteville.

Doris Poole '35 to Joseph A. Watkins, October 1, Virgilina, Virginia. At home Oxford.

Mary Mercer Reeves '35 to Rev. Charles Spence Hubbard, August 26, at the home of the bride's parents, Sanford. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, and is now a graduate student in the school of religion at Duke University.

Margaret Neely Rouzer '35 to John Robert Ingram, September 20, First Presbyterian Church, Salisbury. She is the daughter of Edna (McCubbins) Rouzer ex-'04. The bridegroom is an alumnus of the University of North Carolina, and is now manager of a bottling company, Sanford. At home there.

Minnie Hohn '36 to Maurice Robertson, August 27, parsonage of the Ashboro Friends Church, Randleman.

Mary Lea Motsinger '36 to Ray Lee Evans, July 30, at the home of the bride's parents, Guilford College. Dorothy Smith '37 was one of the attendants. The bridegroom is district representative of Oldsmobile. At home Florence, South Carolina.

Mary Catherine Proctor '36 to Richard Stokes Adderton, July 5, First Baptist Church, Lumberton. The bride is the efficient manager of the Woman's College Book Store. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, where he was a member of Phi Gamma Delta and Alpha Psi fraternities. He is now president of the firm of Conrad and Martin, general electric distributors in Lexington and Thomasville. At home Greensboro.

Mary Louise Shepherd '36 to Robert Wiltar Seitz, July 2, First Baptist Church, Durham. The bride is especially remem-

Make The O. Henry YOUR Hotel

Elegantly equipped,
with every refinement,
and friendly, courteous service.

THE O. HENRY HOTEL

W. J. Black, Manager

A DINKLER HOTEL

CARLING DINKLER

President and General Manager

BLUE BIRD TAXI DIAL 5112

25c 1 to 4 passengers 25c

ALL NEW CARS

JOS. J. STONE & COMPANY

Printers and Bookbinders

Everything for the office

225 South Davie Street

GREENSBORO, N. C.

BROOKS-WILSON CO.

APPAREL SHOP

119 S. Greene St.

"A Smart Place to Shop"We Invite You to Visit

GREENSBORO'S NEWEST JEWELRY STORE

Nationally Advertised

Watches, Diamonds, Jewelry
Zenith and Emerson Radios

Cor. Elm and Washington

GREENSBORO, N. C.

bered at college for her work as president of the Student Government Association. The bridegroom is a graduate of State College, Raleigh, where he was colonel of his regiment, a member of Alpha Gamma Rho, the Blue Key, the Golden Chain, and Tau Beta Pi. He is now acting supervisor of the cellophane division of E. I. DuPont de Nemours. At home Richmond, Virginia.

Lois Swett '36 to Howard Hanscom Abbott, August 20, Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Southern Pines. Susan Swett '38 was maid of honor, and Mary (Swett) Barney '35 was dame of honor.

Laura Vernon Abernethy '37 to Folger Lafayette Townsend, October 1, Corinth Reformed Church, Hickory. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and of the law school of Duke University. He is now practicing law in Lenoir. At home there.

DICK'S LAUNDRY COMPANY

Launderers and Dry Cleaners

Josephine Tomlinson '36 to Frank Wilson Dayvault, July 23, Baptist Church, Black Creek. Margaret Tomlinson '34 was her sister's maid of honor. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where he was a member of Phi Delta Chi fraternity, and a charter member of Rho Chi, honorary pharmaceutical fraternity. He is now manager and owner of Dayvault's Drug Store, Lenoir. At home there.

Virginia Anne Brittain '37 to O. Conrad Tew, July 31, York, S. C. The bridegroom is associated in business with Remington Rand, Inc., Greensboro. At home there.

Edna Carpenter '37 to Rudolph Jackson Baker, December 25, at the home of the bride's parents, Durham. The bridegroom is a graduate of Duke University, and has done graduate work there. Edna is a secretary in the office of the Duke Graduate School. At home Durham.

Margaret deVany '37 to Samuel Byrd Winstead, during July, Norfolk, Virginia. At home Roxboro.

Mildred Shumate '37 to George Gibson Linker, October 1, at the home of the bride's parents, near Concord. The bridegroom holds a responsible position with the Concord Telephone Company. At home Concord.

Almeda Snyder '38 to Henry Crotts, July 30, Advent Moravian Church, Winston-Salem.

Ylia Puig '38 to Paul Eugene Walsh, August 27, Centenary Methodist Church, Winston-Salem. The bridegroom is an alumnus of the University of North Carolina, and is a member of Sigma Delta, and Phi Mu Alpha fraternities. At present connected with Armour & Company, Greensboro. At home there.

Ruth Whalin '38 to John Ernest Little, August 22, First Presbyterian Church, Middlesboro, Kentucky. The bridegroom is a son of the dean of Rutgers University. He was graduated from Rutgers, and is a member of Chi Psi fraternity. This year he is assistant teacher and student in the School of Chemistry at Columbia University. At home New York City.

Mary Lee Whitley '38 to Robert Edward Pennington, September 18, Washington. At home Burlington.

For 24 Years Vicks Advertising has been passed upon by a Board of Physicians

IT CLEARS UP A STUFFY HEAD FAST!

[AFTER THIS, USE IT SOONER AND HELP PREVENT MANY A COLD FROM DEVELOPING]

Va-tro-nol is specialized medication for the nose and upper throat—where most colds start. Used at the first sniffle or sneeze, just a few drops up each nostril, it helps to prevent many colds from developing . . . Even when your head is stopped-up from a neglected cold, Va-tro-nol clears away clogging mucus, shrinks swollen membranes, lets you breathe again.

You can feel its tingling medication go to work

MESSAGES ON FOUNDER'S DAY

Martin County alumnae send greetings on Founder's Day.—Elizabeth Hunt Adkins, chairman.

Northampton alumnae send love and best wishes to our College.—Ruth Vick Everett, chairman.

Greetings with best wishes and pledges of loyalty.—Pitt County alumnae, Thelma Bryan Hilton, chairman.

Founder's Day is one of thanksgiving to a grateful alumna way out in California.—Ruth Bellamy, Los Angeles, California.

Forty-six years ago as a pathfinder in an unexplored field of educational endeavor, our beloved founder developed a golden charter for North Carolina's womanhood. Today we rise to call him blessed. Those who have followed after have likewise borne aloft the same ideals, and in turn have received the richly deserved plaudits from hundreds of loyal Woman's College daughters everywhere. On this anniversary day, we at Spring Hope, pledge anew our faith and true devotion.—Annie M. Cherry, Spring Hope.

Best wishes for your most optimistic hopes, and their fullest realization.—Lula Martin and John Dickinson, Crosiadore, Trappe, Maryland.

Love and good wishes. I've always felt that I am a real Founder.—Fodie Buie Kenyon, Washington, D. C.

The cordial invitation to be your guest at the Founder's Day luncheon, October 5, is deeply appreciated. Would that I could accept! To be able to break bread again with the many friends who also love this institution would be great joy. Please give my love to all present and express my regret that I cannot be with them.—Lula Martin Melver (Mrs. Charles D. Melver).

Alamance Alumnae Association sends greetings and assurances of continued loyalty to our College.—Margaret McConnell Holt, chairman.

Please extend to faculty and students our devotion and sincere good wishes as they carry on the wonderful work of Alma Mater.—Atlanta Alumnae Club, Eva Lee Sink Weir, chairman.

Best wishes and congratulations on Founder's Day to faculty and students.—Caldwell County Alumnae Association, Helen Petrie Hollifield, chairman.

Sincere greetings and best wishes for the year.—Duplin County Alumnae Association, Allie Hill Boney, chairman.

May the spirit of our founder ever be with the College. Greetings.—Edgecombe County Alumnae Club, Em Austin, chairman.

Best wishes from every member of the Haywood County Association.—Grace Albright Stamey, chairman.

Birthday greetings from Lenoir County chapter.—Jessie Brown Mewborn, chairman.

Accept our congratulations and best wishes.—Lexington Alumnae Association, Mary Trice, chairman.

College Lecture Calendar

- October 1—Production by Playlikers—"Personal Appearance."
- October 4—Elissa Landi, famous star of screen and stage—"The Difference Between Stage and Screen Acting."
- October 11—"The Mordkin Ballet, including Mikhail Mordkin, premier danseur and master of the Imperial Ballet of Moscow, with his company of sixty."
- October 22—Phyllis Bottome, English novelist—"The New Technique of Living."
- October 31—November 1—Alice Burrows, of Vogue Magazine—in a series of five lectures on "The Art of Being Well Dressed."
- November 5—Production by Playlikers—"East Lynne."
- November 8—Captain John D. Craig, adventurer "on the earth, in the air, and at the bottom of the ocean"—"Danger is My Business."
- November 22—Stuart Cloette, novelist—"Wide Horizons."
- December 1—Harry Hansen, literary critic—"The First Reader: Literary Currents and Personalities of the Hour."
- December 5—Production by Playlikers—"Susan and God."
- January 11—Sir Arthur Willert, diplomat, head of the Publicity Department of the British Foreign Office—"Europe 1939."
- February 10—Gerald Wendt, Director of the American Institute of New York, and Director of Science, New York World's Fair 1939—"The Science Revue 1939."
- February 16—Henry C. Wolfe, author, authority on international relations, foreign correspondent—"Czechoslovakia—Battleground of Dictatorship and Democracy."
- February 21—Doris Humphrey, Charles Weidman, and Dance Group—Program of New Dance Compositions.
- February 25—Production by Playlikers.
- February 27—Harrison Forman, author member of the Explorers Club, at present Sino-Japanese War Photographer for The March of Time—"The Far East Aflame."
- March 6—Eugene Schoen, architect, decorator, industrial designer, and consultant—"Contemporary Architecture and Decoration."
- March 13—Sidney R. Montague, of

- the Royal Canadian Mounted Police—"Under Northern Lights."
- March 25—Production by Playlikers.
- March 28—Andre Maurois, famous French author—"French Wit in English and American Humor."
- April 14—Annual Phi Beta Kappa address—speaker to be announced later.
- April 28—William Seabrook, writer, explorer, adventurer—"An Expatriate Returns."
- April 29—Production by Playlikers.

Alumnae House Calendar Schedule of Extra Events

- October 2—Tea, Wesley Foundation, honoring Dr. Smart, University preacher.
- October 2—Open House—Y.M.C.A.
- October 3—Y Cabinet Meeting.
- October 4—Speakers' Club.
- October 5—Founder's Day Meeting, Guilford County Alumnae Association, presenting Allen Tate: poet, critic, novelist.
- October 7—Tea for Transfer Students.
- October 10—Quill Club.
- October 10—Open Meeting, Greensboro Chapter A.A.U.W.
- October 12—Education Club, presenting Dr. Harl Douglas.
- October 12—French Club.
- October 13—Sigma Chapter of Wesley Players.
- October 14—Y Committee Meeting.
- October 18—Speakers' Club.
- October 19—Math Club.
- October 20—Faculty Reception.
- October 21—Staff Meeting of Carolinian.
- October 22—Meeting of State Association of Delta Kappa Gamma.
- October 24—Quill Club.
- October 24—Meeting of American Association of University Professors.
- October 26—Circle Francais.
- October 27—Sigma Chapter of Wesley Players.
- October 31—Lecture: Miss Alice Burrows, editor of Vogue Magazine.
- October 31—Riding Club.
- October 31—Y Cabinet.
- November 1—Greensboro Garden Council—Mrs. Sarah Biddle Johnson, editor of Garden Digest, speaker.
- November 1—Industrial Y Committee.
- November 1—Miss Alice Burrows, editor of Vogue Magazine.
- November 1—Speakers' Club.
- November 2—German Club.

- November 3—Steering Committee, Southeastern Branch of Progressive Education Association.
- November 3—Inter-Faith Council.
- November 4—Community Service Group.
- November 4—Initiation Classical Club.
- November 7—Quill Club.
- November 8—Circle Francais.
- November 9—Faculty Group—Lecture by Dr. Pao-Yu Yin.
- November 10—Sigma Chapter of Wesley Players.
- November 14—Carolinian Staff Meeting.
- November 15—Speakers' Club.
- November 16—Math Club.
- November 17—Open Meeting, Reviewers Book Club.
- November 18—Open Meeting, Friday Book Club.
- November 20—Tea and Musical, honoring Rabbi James Heller.
- November 20—Open House—University Sermon.

Spencer Dormitory Has Been Remodeled

The upperclassmen came back to a campus this fall very much thrilled over the remodeling of Spencer Dormitory—our oldest, and by far largest, residence hall. As somebody described it, "Spencer ranges and rambles all over Guilford County." But despite its size, and inner dilapidation for many years, it has always been a favorite campus house. Its general exterior appearance remains practically the same, although it has been repainted and slightly modified, especially near the central entrance on College Avenue. Within, the reformation is almost unimaginable. You will have to come to see it for yourselves! The social rooms are Georgian in treatment and there is a finely designed, open fireplace. Numerous bathrooms, kitchenettes, and other features add greatly to the comfort of living in Spencer, and make entertaining there easy and attractive.

Only "Rockingham" remains untouched by the hand of the architect and the decorator. It could well be photographed as "before," and the rest of the building as "after." But funds are now available for the renovation of this wing, and before many months, "Rockingham" also will have been beautified.

Remember: You Always Save at Belk's

BELK'S INVITE YOU TO SEE THEIR

Flattering Favorites

COATS • DRESSES • HATS • SHOES • NOTIONS

All college girls will love our advance styles . . . and you'll refresh your spirits, wardrobe and appearance at such a small cost. We like to see you . . . even if you don't buy! Come in today!

BELK'S

Greensboro's Most Popular Department Store

BY THE WAY
...PAUSE
AND REFRESH

Park...and pause...where you see the red sign that says "Drink Coca-Cola." It flashes a welcome invitation to enjoy a sociable pause for pure refreshment. Thirst asks nothing more.

COCA-COLA BOTTLING CO.

hundreds of delighted Brownhill patrons
tell their friends:

"Shop at Brownhill's—you'll find more quality,
more style,
more value
—a really delightful place to shop."

the NEW Brownhill's

GREENSBORO, N. C.

MOJUD

Clari-phane

SILK STOCKINGS

- You'll enjoy your Fall activities just twice as much if you're wearing stockings that really fit, since you'll be more comfortable and cut down on hosiery bills! All you have to do is get our Mojud Clari-phane silk stockings in your correct leg length, and know the fun of wearing stockings that are thoughtfully fashioned to fit at thigh, knee, calf and ankle!

Manufactured by
MOCK, JUDSON, VOHRINGER CO. OF NORTH CAROLINA, INC.
GREENSBORO, N. C.